HAVOC IN WAKE OF 5 FLAMES

Antross siding and the village of Breton, 50 miles southwest of Edmonton, were threatened on three sides by raging timber fires at noon Tuesday, as five major conflagrations in areas near to Edmonton taunted the efforts of more than 200 fire fighters.

Fire which swept north from Winfield was closing in on Antross and already had started a blaze on the mill property of Anthony and Ross at Antross but had been driven back by a crew of 30 men. Four million feet of lumber and five million feet of logs are threatened here and about 400 logs already have been burned.

Two new fires started about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, one four miles west of Breton and the other two miles west, just on the east side of Poplar Creek.

The home and all farm buildings of Len Neutsling, three miles south of Breton, were destroyed when flames swept his homestead late Monday afternoon. He took his wife and two children to the home of his wife's mother, several miles east and now is working with fire-fighting crews.

SAWMILL IN DANGER

At three o'clock Monday afternoon fire surrounded Pearson and Sons' sawmill, nine miles west of Breton but a crew of 75 mill hands and homesteaders, desperately felling trees, trenching and backfiring, fought back the blaze and managed to save the mill. A large stock of piled logs was destroyed, however.

With new fires immediately west o. Breton, which started Tuesday forenoon, and the Antross fire advanced to within three miles of Breton, Constable J. W. Pooke, R.C.M.P., and Fire Ranger McKenzie recruited every available man in Breton Tuesday morning and took them into the field immediately after lunch.

Superintending operations and checking up on equipment and food supplies necessary for fire fighters, J. A. Hutchison, provincial assistant director of forestry and Robert S. Wyllie, provincial timber inspector are at Breton, from Edmonton.

E. D. Cotterell, Calgary, general superintendent for Alberta, of the C.P.R. arrived at Breton at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

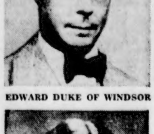

A special water train was sent by the C.P.R. to Antross Monday evening.

whose happy reunion today is told in press despatches. The Duke of Windsor again is with the woman he loves and for whom he forsook the crown.

RED CROSS FUND PASSES $70,000 MARK

LONDON, May 4—As contributions reached more than $70,000 the Red Cross Society today renewed its nation-wide appeal for funds to assist in rehabilitating flood-sufferers of London and Western Ontario.

The society's objective is $250,000.

Meanwhile, householders, sweating as a strong sun beat down, continued their task of cleaning up their household effects.

Pots, pans and other kitchen utensils for the most part are usable again.

PREMIER HAYASHI STICKS TO POST DESPITE DEFEAT

TOKYO, May 4—Premier Senjuro Hayashi, who has refused to resign in the face of an overwhelming defeat of his government at the polls, defied the electorate today by refusing "to retreat merely on the ground of public opinion."

He added: "If an official organ like an organized political party introduces a vote of non-confidence in the Diet then we may consider the matter."

The political parties opposed to Hayashi's government won some 400 of the 466 parliamentary seats up for general election last week.

KING YETA, FLY SWITCH, BOTH ARRIVE

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., May 4—King Yeta III of Barotsiland—it's in Britain's South African colony of Northern Rhodesia—crossed his furry-handled fly switch when he disembarked today to attend the coronation of King George VI.

The switch, used to keep flies away from the royal personage, is a symbol of the king's authority.

U.S. Reports Crop Promise Will Be Big

CHICAGO, May 4—Despite crop deterioration in the United States winter wheat belt last month, Chicago experts indicated today, 1937 production still promises to be the largest since 1931.

The average of six crop experts' estimates of winter wheat harvest this summer was 652,000,000 bushels, which compared with an average of 655,000,000 a month ago and the April 1 estimate by the department of agriculture of 656,000,000. The 1936 harvest totalled 519,000,000 bushels.

Soft-Handed Nazis To Try Road Work

BERLIN, May 4—High officials of the German propaganda ministry changed pens for picks and spades to break rocks today. A decree ordered those who have spent their time signing state documents to lend a hand to road workers for two months or work as coal trimmers and hod carriers and live on wages paid such laborers.

Wife, Alimony Sit Downer, Is Sticking It Out

LONGMONT, Colo., May 4.—Hot bricks, cold cream and a tarpaulin helped Mrs. Genevieve Johnson, 29, the alimony sit-downer, withstand last night's sub-freezing cold.

Several friends came just before midnight to apply the cream to her chapped face and place the bricks under the rocking chair which has been her abode since a week ago last Sunday.

Then they wrapped a tarpaulin around her, entirely covering her head.

Thus, resembling a cross between a mummy and a tepee, she braved a damp, cold night on the lawn at the home of her father-in-law, Gus Johnson.

She insisted she'll stick it out until her estranged husband, Ralph, agreed to $6.70 weekly separate maintenance payments.

TUG AND TOW IN TROUBLE AS SOS FLASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4.—The red stack tug Sea Lion, towing the U.S. army dredge Multnomah, flashed an SOS today. The message intercepted by Mackay Radio said:

"Tow breaking loose, need immediate assistance."

The tugboat, which left San Francisco May 2, gave its location off Fish Rocks, 100 miles north of here. The marine department of the Chamber of Commerce said a full crew of 15 was aboard the dredge, and the tug carried 15.

A coast guard boat put out to help.

Boy Scout, 13, Lauded As Hero Saving Children

AMHERST, N.S., May 4—A 13-year-old Boy Scout was hailed today for saving two small children from death beneath the wheels of a speeding train. A passerby told the story.

Lloyd Weatherbee saw two tots on the railway track near here at the same time he heard an express train whistle. He pushed one child off the tracks in one direction and lifted the other safely on the opposite.

TEN THOUSAND WOMEN, CHILDREN GIVEN REFUGE

300 REBELS IN DEATH TRAP AS POWDER FIRED

Insurgents Blown to Death When Refuge is Dynamited

MADRID, May 4—Three hundred insurgents were blown to death it was reported today, when three houses in which they had sought to beat off attacking government troops were blasted with dynamite. The dynamite attack late yesterday routed Madrid's besiegers from three lines of entrenchments on the south-western edge of the city.

The onslaught was but one of a series of hammer blows designed to oust Gen. Francisco Franco's men from their positions nearest to the city.

The insurgents struggled, at the same time to restore communications and supply lines between their main body and 3,000 comrades beleaguered in University City, on Madrid's northwestern edge.

The insurgents were reported to have been driven further back from the Coruna road, running northwest from Madrid.

On the Teruel front, about 135 miles east of Madrid, the government opened vigorous artillery and rifle fire, inflicting heavy losses on Franco's salient toward the Mediterranean coast, the war ministry announced.

Bilbao Defended To Last Ditch

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, France, May 4.—Basque defenders of Bilbao fought a last-ditch fight today to save the city and make possible the evacuation of at least a few thousand women and children.

Spanish insurgent dispatches said Gen. Emilio Mola's troops were

LONDON READY TO CELEBRATE IN BEER FOAM

LONDON, May 4 — London is ready to celebrate the coronation with foam and bubbles.

No less than 250,000 extra barrels of beer, by a conservative estimate, will be consumed before the coronation is over and the leading hotels have stocked up heavily with champagne, wines and liqueurs.

The toast to "The King" is going to be drunk from one end of London to the other.

There is plenty of precedent.

ITALY BABES TO BE GIVEN CASH GRANT

ROME, May 4.—The government is going to give Italian parents 13 to 38 cents a week for each new baby.

The scheme is part of Premier Mussolini's plan to check the decline in Italy's birth rate.

The original announcement of the baby subsidy said the government's contributions would be progressively larger as families expanded, but gave no figures. Now the amounts have been disclosed and married couples are calculating.

Hotel Guests In San Francisco Make Own Beds

SAN FRANCISCO, May 4. — Guests in 16 strike-besieged hotels faced their fourth day of making their own beds and bathing in cold water as hopes of a quick settlement waned and the city health department threatened to keep crippled buildings if sanitary regulations were violated.

The hotels were accepting no new patrons.

The strike of the 3,500 workers caught nearly 6,000 patrons in the hotels, which represent a total investment of about $55,000,000. Many since have checked out.

The strike was called Saturday when operators and union negotiators failed to agree on recognition of the newly-formed Clerks and Office Workers' Union.

Collision Quiz

MONTREAL, May 4.—Harbor authorities today ordered an inquiry into head-on collision of the freighters Red River and Saskatoon in Montreal harbor Saturday.

ST. JEAN DE LUZ, France, May 4—Refuge for about 10,000 women and children from siege or bombardment in Bilbao was virtually assured today as a fleet of passenger ships made ready to evacuate as many as possible before insurgent guns close the port by bombardment.

The first to leave, the steamer Margaux with room for 500, was expected to clear Bordeaux harbor by midnight tonight. The Carimare and Chateau Palmer, with space for 1,000 and 500 emigres respectively, were scheduled to leave for Bilbao within 24 hours after the Margaux.

More than 4,000 refugees, many children among them, were listed to sail tonight aboard the 10,000-ton Spanish liner Habana. Arrangements were made to charter another large ship to remove 4,000 more children to England.

The ship's identity was kept secret lest it become a prey of insurgent war vessels patrolling the Bay of Biscay.

Advices from Bordeaux, France, said several French steamers with a total capacity of 2,000 refugee passengers were being coaled and provisioned for a dash to Bilbao.

Windsor Is Now Reunited With Woman He Loves

MONTS, France, May 4—After speeding across half of Europe by train and automobile bound for a romantic rendezvous with "the woman I love," the Duke of Windsor arrived at the Chateau de Cande near here today where Wallis Warfield Simpson, radiantly happy, awaited him.

The possibility that the Duke's stay at Chateau De Cande would be short found favor in view of advices that he had left most of his baggage at Vienna.

A member of the duke's staff disclosed the former emperor was considering writing a book to correct erroneous reports concerning the abdication.

Five months and one day of enforced loneliness for the former king ended at 1:45 p.m. (8:45 a.m. M.S.T.) when the Duke reached the Chateau de Cande.

He came from St. Wolfgang, Austria, by train and motor. Mrs. Simpson met him on the doorstep of the chateau. Preceded by a motorcycle policeman, the Duke's car roared through the gates. A truck, backed with 17 suitcases, came along behind. The Duke was an hour overdue from Vernueil, where he left the Arlberg express.

The Duke jumped from the car and, arm in arm, with Mrs. Simpson, went inside the castle.

Mrs. Simpson Superintends Plan From Truck-loads of Flowers

MONTS, France, May 4—Mrs. Wallis Simpson, now free to marry the Duke of Windsor, today turned the Chateau de Cande into a fairy castle to welcome the Duke of Windsor. Truckloads of flowers were sent from Tours and arranged under her direction in the chateau's scores of rooms as the Duke sped by train from Austria for the reunion.

The decision of the Duke to speed to her side for their first meeting since before he stepped down from

FUTURES MART UNSOUND, SAYS J. I. M'FARLAND

CALGARY, May 4—Declaring the grain future market "economically unsound" in a world dominated by government assistance, John I. McFarland of Calgary today told the Turgeon Royal Grain Commission it was a "great tragedy" farmers received "ruinously low prices" for wheat.

Director of federal government stabilization operations in the wheat market from 1930 to 1935 and chairman of the 1935 Dominion Wheat Board, Mr. McFarland said such operations cost the Dominion "nothing, or at the most practically nothing."

Elimination of surplus wheat supplies was caused through the "perfectly natural method" of actual world consumption and short crops. Mr. McFarland declared.

PONTIFF TELLS HITLER CHURCH MUST BE FREE

VATICAN CITY, May 4—Pope Pius told Chancellor Hitler today the Catholic Church must be left free to fulfill its mission in Nazi Germany.

The Pontiff's reply to the recent German Church note, which itself was a reply to the Pope's pre-Easter Encyclical accusing the German government of violating the 1933 Church-State Concordat, was delivered by Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli to the German ambassador to the Holy See, Diego von Bergen.

Vatican sources said the note did not mention Hitler's May Day speech, when he warned against sermons or "Encyclicals" which "disturb" the third Reich.

Wages Increased

SHANGHAI, May 4. — Japanese-owned cotton mills in China today ordered a 10 per cent. general wage increase.

Seven Are In Peril Of Gas Poisoning: Sparrow Blamed

CALGARY, May 4—Seven persons, members of two families, were in hospital here today, victims of carbon monoxide poisoning, and a sparrow was responsible for their plight.

A chimney, blocked by the sparrow's nest, shot fumes from a gas water heater back into the house among its sleeping occupants.

Sidney Smith, returning from his night job at a packing plant, found his wife and two sons unconscious and in other rooms of his home on Tenth street east overcome by the fumes were Mr. and Mrs. Mack Smith, of Pincher Creek and their son and daughter.

Donald Smith, four-year-old son of Sidney Smith, and Margaret Smith, 14, daughter of Mack Smith, were reported in a serious condition. Mack Smith is a brother of Sidney's.

Neighbors assisted in getting both families from the gas-filled house and ambulance attendants administered first aid before taking them to hospital.

In the vent pipe of the heater, gas inspectors found a dead sparrow along with feathers and a quantity of grass with which it had been building a nest.

Insurgent Leader Calls For Mobilizing All Rebel Spain

SALAMANCA, Spain, May 4—Gen. Francisco Franco today called to the colors all residents of insurgent-held Spain born during the first quarter of 1918. The mobilization order was contained in a decree issued at Burgos.

Heavy firing was reported continuing along the northern front in an official communique released today. The communique further stated the advance on Bilbao had been temporarily halted to complete the mop-up of basque contingents isolated in the rapid insurgent advance of the last three days.

Rightist regiments on the northern front which had been scattered during the swift advance of the last few days, were reported halting to reform their ranks. Further advances awaited shifting of supply bases nearer to the front lines, it was also said.

Reported bombing of the insurgent-held city of Zaragoza was alleg-

BERLIN, ROME LAUNCH NEW LOVE FEAST

Dictators' Henchmen Continue Conference—Press Hits Britain

ROME, May 4—Italy and Germany will continue and expand their friendship agreement, highly informed sources said today after conferences between Premier Mussolini and Baron Von Neurath, German foreign minister, who arrived here yesterday.

There will be no formal military alliance because diplomatic circles said, no such written pact is necessary. It appeared more probable that Mussolini and Hitler might effect an oral understanding in future conversations.

HERE'S FORMULA

There is sufficient agreement for the present, Editor Virginio Gayda indicated in the usually authoritative Giornale D'Italia, in the formula:

"Nothing in Europe without Italy and Germany. Nothing against Italy and Germany."

Von Neurath, Mussolini, and his son-in-law, foreign minister Count Ciano, were said to be in accord on these points after today's talks.

The League of Nations as presently constituted is useless in enforcing peace.

NO SEPARATE PARTS

Any new Locarno pact to assure security must follow the old one signed by Britain, France, Germany, Italy and Belgium. There must be no separate parts; there will be no

Canada House Displays Maple Leaf Adornment

By MOLLIE McGEE
Canadian Press Correspondent

LONDON, May 4—Canada House, just off Trafalgar Square, has been decked out in a brilliant display of the maple leaf's fall colorings for the coronation.

Golden russet drapery covers the walls of the three-tiered stand that already conceals two sides of the building. Crimson flags, with golden yellow edging and designs of crowns or maple leafs, wave from more than a dozen flag poles extending horizontally from the roof. A spotlight at night picks out a giant maple leaf at the front of the building.

The Dominion coat-of-arms has been painted on panels set on either side of the stand's entrance.

Davy, Distinguished Engineer, Is Dead

OTTAWA, May 4—Funeral of E. Adams Davy, 86, distinguished Canadian engineer and one of the founders of the Engineering Institute of Canada, will be held tomorrow. He died Saturday.

During his career which began in 1873 after he came from Penzance, Cornwall, England, where he was born, he supervised construction of railroads and other projects in eastern Canada.

NORMA SHEARER

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 4.—Norma Shearer, screen star who has been in retirement since the death of her husband, Producer Irving Thalberg, last year, soon will don acting harness in a picture she had planned for her. Louis B. Mayer, M-G-M chief, said that Jane Austin's 'Pride Or Prejudice," and Stefan Zweig's 'Marie Antoinette," are being considered for her.

5000 Buses In London Missing On Busy Streets

By GRANT DEXTER
(Turn To Page 16 For Pictures)

LONDON, May 4.—Old London "ain't what she used to be." Since midnight Saturday the crimson splashes of London's five thousand busses is absent from the streets, and not even the rapidly rising flood of bunting and flags which herald the near approach of the Coronation Day can make up for the absence of the one deckers and two deckers which normally lurch along London streets like great juggernauts, filling the air with the sound of clashing gears and the pungent odor of gas fumes.

London streets look just as different without their busses as main streets in Canada would look without their pavements torn up, and in the absence of the busses central London subway trains are shutting about like long strings of sardine cars. Human beings are packed so tightly in the subway trains that cars seem to extend and contract as their occupants breathe.

TRAINS JAMMED

So jammed are the trains with Londoners going to and from work that library books have become instruments of torture and umbrellas and hat pins almost lethal weapons.

Airbase Strike May Postpone New Service

CORK, Irish Free State, May 4.—A strike of workers in the transAtlantic airbase at Rineanna, County Clare, threatened today to delay the start of experimental flights in the proposed air service to North America, planned for late this month.

The men are demanding $13 a week instead of $6. Police were sent to the base to guard against disorder.

Canada - Haiti Pact Is Signed

OTTAWA, May 4.—A commercial agreement between Canada and Haiti giving most-favored-nation treatment in tariff matters has been signed, Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce, announced today.

BUSMEN HAND LONDON WARNING IN STRIKE ISSUE

LONDON, May 4—A warning that a complete tieup of London's transportation in these crowded pre-Coronation days might follow any attempt to break the strike of 25,000 busmen, tramway and subway men came today from one of the walkouts leaders.

These weeks reports that some members of the subway and street car unions desired to strike in support of the busmen, although the latter's organization has opposed any sympathy walkout, at least until after a board of inquiry reports.

The Bus Union official said, however, the danger of spread of the four-day stoppage would be aggravated greatly if motor coach companies were permitted to run coaches over the idle bus routes.

Surprise Visit

LONDON, May 4—The King and Queen made a surprise visit to Westminster Abbey this afternoon and took part in a rehearsal of part of the coronation ceremony.

PULITZER LITERARY, NEWS AWARDS ANNOUNCED

WRITER, OFTEN IN BULLETIN, IS HONORED

Blakeslee, Science Editor, Familiar Here With Scholarly Reports

NEW YORK, May 4—The St. Louis Post Dispatch, the novel, "Gone With the Wind," and the play, "You Can't Take It With You," received Pulitzer awards for excellence in American journalism and letters today.

The committee, announcing the awards at its annual banquet last night, said the "Disinterested and meritorious public service" for which the Post Dispatch was honored was the exposure of wholesale registration frauds in St. Louis.

HISTORICAL WORK

The prize for the best American historical work went to Van Wyck Brooks for his "Flowering of New England."

The biography prize was given to Allan Nevins, for his "Hamilton Fish, the Inner History of the Grant Administration."

"Gone With the Wind," is Margaret Mitchell's civil war novel which has set a record as a best seller and soon will be made into a moving picture.

"You Can't Take It With You," is a comedy written by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, and now is playing on Broadway.

POETRY AWARD

The poetry award was given to Robert Frost for his "A Further Range."

The best newspaper cartoon, the committee decided, was one by C. D. Bachelor, of the New York Daily News, entitled "Come on in, I'll treat you right. I used to know your daddy."

Bachelor's cartoon depicted a youth talking with a disheveled harridan in a kimono at the foot of a staircase. Upon her breast was inscribed the word "war."

The $500 award for distinguished service as a foreign or Washington correspondent was awarded to Anne O'Hare McCormick, of the New York Times, for her despatches and feature articles from Europe in 1936.

FIVE REPORTERS

The $1,000 award for a distinguished example of reporters' work during the year was shared by five reporters, John J. O'Neill, of the New York Herald-Tribune; William L. Laurence of the New York Times; Howard W. Blakeslee, of the Associated Press; Gobind Behari Lal, of the Universal Service and David Deitz, of the Scripps Howard newspapers. (Mr. Blakeslee's despatches on scientific matters appear in the Edmonton Bulletin.)

They were awarded the prize for their coverage of the Harvard tercentenary celebration last year.

Where Bilbao Victims Await Rescue

A view of the harbor and city of Bilbao, Spain, now withstanding a withering attack by insurgent forces. According to latest reports, hundreds of civilians have been killed by insurgent shells, and both Great Britain and France are taking steps to evacuate an estimated 200,000 persons from the war-torn city. Evacuation of the refugees will be accomplished by British merchant vessels now stationed in the harbor and which will be protected by Spanish loyalist ships to the three-mile limit.

the British throne galvanized the chateau into action.

Mrs. Simpson's spokesman, Herman L. Rogers, indicated the former king might arrive at the chateau late this afternoon.

The chateau's lights gleamed last night as elaborate preparations were hurried for his arrival.

Armed gendarmes under the personal supervision of the chief of police of Tours guarded the grounds at posts within the railings. Inside the castle were half a dozen British and French detectives to protect the small house party awaiting the Duke.

Included with Charles E. Bedaux, the hostess, and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, Bedaux, owner of the chateau, is expected to arrive today.

"MISS WARFIELD"

Some of Monts' inhabitants already speak of Mrs. Simpson as "Miss Warfield" but Rogers said she had not decided whether to assume her maiden name for the period before her marriage to the Duke. She wishes to continue to be called Mrs. Simpson for the time being, he said.

The village telephonist, refusing to put through calls to the castle, said outgoing long-distance lines were occupied 1½ hours with calls from it.

lilacs, tulips and yellow acacia, a small house party awaited the Duke for luncheon.

During the morning Mrs. Simpson had walked in the garden alone. The day started out grey and chilly, but an hour before the Duke arrived the sun burst to show the countryside in all its splendor.

A knot of villagers had gathered outside the gates, waiting newspapermen, to see the Duke. Wearing sabots, the peasants climbed from bicycles and chatted with the gendarmes. Then they whiled away the time munching chocolate and bread and sipping from flagons of white wine.

IN GOOD HUMOR

A truck loaded with five pigs paused for a moment in the road and the driver gazed with mild curiosity at the crowd. An Englishwoman on a tour from London outdid the newspaper photographers in taking pictures of everything in sight.

As the Duke's car passed, every British newspaperman removed his hat.

The Duke wore a black overcoat but no hat. He leaned forward, smiled and waved to the newspapermen.

ning, pulling several huge tank cars of water and carrying high pressure pumps and hose lines. This equipment made it possible to save Anthony and Ross' mill and planer at Antross and the pump and hose has been left at the station.

The water train went back to South Edmonton Tuesday morning but before noon the situation in the Breton area was so desperate that it was stated it would be necessary to order out the tanks again.

Forced to leave her home in the Norbuck district, just north of Winfield, Monday, Mrs. J. A. Abbott, wife of a sawmill worker, carried her six-months-old baby 3½ miles through smoke and flying cinders to safety at Winfield. Her husband and oldest son were away fighting fires and their home is believed to have been destroyed.

Four or five other families in the Winfield and Norbuck districts fled from their homes on Monday and were reported to have reached safety. Mr. and Mrs. A. Kovack near Winfield, escaped to the homes of relatives.

WIND FANS FLAMES

It was reported Tuesday that the fire in the Winfield area was simmering out, although there was still danger of new flare-ups. Wind was advancing the flames north, leaving a track of desolation 10 miles wide and perilling the more northern stations of Antross and Breton.

Fourteen miles of telephone lines north of Winfield and many miles of farm fencing, have been destroyed.

When a wave of fire jumped the C.P.R. right-of-way between Fraspur and Antross, late Monday, five-fighters had to flee for their lives. Attacking again from a different angle, a small army of men, carrying canvas water sacks on their backs and operating hand pumps, managed to check track this fire to some extent.

Large timber tracts owned by Anthony and Ross, and the D. R. Fraser lumber company of Edmonton have been seriously cut into in the Fraspur and Antross sections.

WOOD SUPPLIES LOST

Besides losing their homes, settlers have lost large supplies of cordwood which they had spent the winter cutting.

Fire that has been raging for three days near Yeddyd, west of Pigeon lake, was still dangerous on Tuesday morning and Robert Wood, fisheries inspector at Westrose, took a party of men into this area.

West of Edmonton, on the C.N.R. line, a crew of men managed to bring a fire four miles east of Onoway, on Alberta Beach highway, under control Tuesday morning. There was extensive damage, M. Debrecsky, a homesteader, losing grain and equipment. Fire between Onoway and Bilby was extinguished Monday.

Man Found Dead In City Lodging

Alex. Gardiner, 45, was found dead on the floor beside his bed in his room in the Dominion block, 10034 100 street, shortly after 9 a.m. Tuesday by his sister, Miss W. Gardiner.

He had been in ill-health for some time, his sister told police. She had gone to call him this morning, but found his room locked and received no response. She returned later, got a key from the janitor and entered the room. Dr. E. A. Braithwaite, provincial coroner, was notified. Death was attributed to natural causes, and the coroner stated that no inquest would be necessary. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Howard and McBride's.

ed to have killed 20 persons and wounded 30, including women and children.

In retaliation, Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano said last night in his regular broadcast, he had ordered intense aerial bombardment of the city of Jaen, capital of the Andalusian province of that name. The general said 10 other insurgent cities had been subjected to intense government air bombings. These were Fuenteovejuna, Espiel, Peñaroya, Villaharta, Vila Del Rio, Montero, Lopera, Porcuna, Malaga and Cordoba. In the last-named city bombs were reported to have struck on insane asylum, killing many of the inmates.

Reports from Avila, northwest of Madrid, and Soria, to the northeast, said these fronts were quiet. Intense artillery preparation was reported in progress along entire Andalusian front.

swarming into the mountainous region north of Bilbao and that their artillery commanded the Nervion river, Bilbao's water outlet to the Bay of Biscay.

Basque reports declared, however, that government soldiers were holding their ground west of Bermeo, a fishing town only about eight miles north of Bilbao.

The Basque government said 2,000 Italian troops in the insurgent army were killed in an assault when they were cut off from their base at Bermeo.

EVACUATING BILBAO

Evacuation of civilians from Bilbao, thus far limited to transport safety only to foreigners, but removal of Spaniards was expected to begin today.

There appeared little likelihood many of the civilians in Bilbao —estimated to number some 250,000 since the insurgent grip tightened on the city—could be taken to foreign havens. France and Britain plan to transport 5,000, if possible, to France, where authorities have prepared to provide for them temporarily.

Several British freighters which got food into Bilbao last week despite the menace of insurgent guns still are lying at the Basque port. They might be used to take out refugees, along with three French steamers which are scheduled to leave Bordeaux for Bilbao tonight. The French ships can carry 2,000 persons.

Campbell Furniture Birthday Contest Winners Announced

Considerable interest was taken in the large decorative cake made for the Campbell's Furniture Co., celebration of their twenty-first anniversary in business. As was announced in the previous advertisements of this firm, the correct number was to be announced, on Monday, of the floral decorations determined by Mr. Arnold Holmes of McGavin's Bakery. The number is 1,405.

The winners coming closest to that number are:—

Mrs. F. Terry of 11348 97th street, wins the cedar chest with a number of 1,475.

Mrs. L. D. Schneider of 10504 92nd street, wins the sewing cabinet with a number of 1,750.

On Part Cash

WINNIPEG, May 4—The new federal-provincial plan to place men now on relief in productive employment on a part-cash basis was adopted here last night by city council.

'Peg C.P. Shopmen Back On Full Time

WINNIPEG, May 4—A full-time work week scheduled for 4,600 men has been put into operation in the C.P.R. Weston shops here as well as other railway shops throughout Canada, an announcement said today. Eighteen hundred workers went on full time for the first time since 1934.

pens. Stenographers and typists who live in the suburbs are writing pitiful letters to the papers portraying their tramps across the heaths and downs for miles or ten miles going and coming to work. Out in "the sticks" around London you can see these wobbling along on high heels, runs in their silk stockings where fellow sardines in packed subways in the city have scraped against or stamped on them.

Naturally there is keen indignation against the snooty capitalists who own cars, and particularly against the "big shots" who shoot along behind their uniformed chauffeurs without offering any one a lift. In this respect this strike is different to all other strikes of it, for the car owners are not offering lifts as they were wont to do in past strikes. Sufferers declare this to be un-British, and thus the carefree atmosphere of Coronation days is being changed to something approaching the Kipling dirge of "Boots, Boots, Boots".

NEW HEALTH WAY

But there are some who see in the bus strike a new way toward national health. The old retired colonels and majors, fiends for exercise, who see the great parade pass by their club windows, daily, believe that it will work out for the nation's good. They are writing to the papers affirming that bus strike will have a splendid effect on national health if it only continues long enough. People who don't use their legs are on their way to the Harley street specialists," writes one correspondent, "and the doctor boasts has never been inside an elevator in his life and who walks his five miles daily rain or shine."

Enterprising Londoners, as usual, are turning the strike to good account. Coach parties which go to the museum along with Model T Fords have been oiled up and are clattering finely over the asphalt from the wrecking yard by the strike. Private cars are being driven into the heart of the city by owners who formerly left them on the outskirts and came in by the underground, so that garages and private parking areas promptly advanced prices.

But, like everything else on this tight little island, the bus strike is distinctly British. Bus drivers and conductors are not striking because they are on strike have arranged to drive all cripples and invalids to and from hospitals and other places requiring aid to look after similar cases. They argue that the battle for higher wages and shorter hours must be fought at the expense of the sick and suffering, and for their sympathetic consideration they are receiving general commendation.

Manitoba Raises Tax Exemptions

WINNIPEG, May 4—Twenty-five thousand married persons and 15,000 single persons in Manitoba automatically received a two per cent wage increase today without their employers having to dig deeper into their bank accounts, Stuart Garson, provincial treasurer said.

For every child a married couple have an additional $200 is added to the $1,300 exemptions under the wage clause. Single persons exemption is raised from $480 to $600.

He received an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from University of Wales in 1927 and was for some years president of the Welsh Baptist union.

MACLELLAN TO STAND BY HIS VOTE CONTRACT

Innisfail M.L.A. Reminds Premier Of His Election Promise

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

ELNORA, May 4.—A. E. MacLellan, Social Credit M.L.A. for Innisfail, whose policy of opposition to Premier Aberhart was endorsed, 83-8, by a meeting of his constituents at Lousana on Monday, has issued a statement in which he reminds Premier Aberhart of his "contract to introduce Social Credit."

Mr. MacLellan's statement said in part:

"Success of the Social Credit members at the polls was due mainly to a promise to introduce Social Credit, a new order of economics that would assist the poor and debt-ridden farmers," the Innisfail member declared.

INSTRUCTIONS CLEAR

"To me my instructions from those who elected me were and are clear; namely: to institute Social Credit to relieve people from the intolerable burden of debt in a manner equitable and fair to all.

"The people of my constituency said to me in effect: 'Go to Edmonton and introduce Social Credit; we will pay you $1,800 per year for doing so.'

"To me that was and is a contract. By that contract I intend to stand so far as it is in my power to do so. I regard that contract seriously. I shall not be a party to give up to it. I hold that it is therefore improper for me to agree unconditionally to an increase in taxation year after year without introducing Social Credit.

CONTRACT UNCHANGED

"I shall not worry about what corner of the house is allotted to me. I shall be found in that part of the house that stands for the fulfilment of election promises. My contract since the election has remained unchanged.

That 'a government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed' is an old maxim in every province of Canada. Have the people of Alberta 'consented' to increased taxation without Social Credit? Have they 'consented' that the government is exercising just powers in increasing taxation without introducing Social Credit?

"My constituents have not changed; they have not been changed. As for me, I must refer to my contract.

"If Mr. Aberhart does not refer to his contract, it is regrettable but not my fault."

MACLACHLAN DUE TO LAND FRIDAY

Glen L. MacLachlan, chairman of the Social Credit board is due to land at London on the Lancastria next Friday if this week end will immediately seek an appointment with Major Clifford H. Douglas, regarding the latter coming here to act as technical adviser in establishing Social Credit here.

Dr. J. L. McPherson, acting chairman of the board stated on Tuesday that the board is continuing to consider possible members of the commission to be set up to administer Social Credit throughout the province. He stated that no selections had been made.

Plans for establishment of Social Credit offices, had been received from all parts of the world and in large numbers. None had been decided on.

Irish Deserter Shot And Killed Avoiding Arrest

BELFAST, May 4—Private Thomas Arbuckle, 20, a deserter from the Royal Irish Fusiliers, was shot by police seeking to arrest him at dawn today, and died two hours later in hospital.

The soldier, whose regiment is stationed at Borden Camp in England, was in Belfast on Easter leave when he decided to desert. Police surrounded his home this morning, but Arbuckle escaped by scaling an unguarded wall.

Hermit Trapper's Bones Are Found

NORTHBROOK, Ont., May 4—A little heap of charred human bones, believed the cremated remains of Aubrey Sedore, hermit-trapper missing since February 15, was accidentally discovered by two neighbors yesterday hidden under a pile of evergreen brush near this town.

Another neighbor, Robert Woodman, was taken into custody by provincial police on a vagrancy charge.

Police Court

Pretty, blonde, 19-year-old Mrs. Helen Labine appeared in police court before Magistrate James Ritchie Tuesday morning for preliminary hearing of the charge of attempting to murder A. F. Dreger, 10716 80th avenue, at his home in the city Saturday afternoon, by shooting at him with a .32 calibre revolver.

Wearing a brown and orange knitted sweater, accused stood in the dock without displaying any emotion, her face an expressionless mask. At the conclusion of the hearing her expression remained unchanged as the Magistrate committed her for trial.

W. McDonald, of the city police, produced a statement made by the accused to him and signed by her. In the statement accused is alleged to have stated that she had gone to Dreger's home Saturday afternoon, waited for him to return, argued with him on his arrival, and finally shot at him twice. "I intended to kill him," she said.

Dreger visited the Labine farm, near Flatbush, in the St. Paul district, about the middle of last month to have some papers signed with regard to the repossession of a cultivator by the implement company for which he works. She alleges that determination to shoot Dreger followed that visit.

John V. Labine, husband of the woman, appeared on a charge of threatening to murder Dreger, and the case was adjourned until Friday at the request of the crown. No plea was taken.

KING VOTED $2,025,000 YEARLY IN CIVIL LIST

WINDSOR NOT MENTIONED IN MONEY GRANTS

Duke of Gloucester's Vote Increased in Line With His Duties

LONDON, May 4.—A civil list providing King George VI with a grant of £410,000 about $2,025,000) annually during his reign is recommended by a select committee of the House of Commons yesterday.

The proposed civil list, considered uncritically certain of adoption by the house, is in the same amount as that voted his brother, former King Edward VIII, but totals some $60,000 less than that of his father, King George V.

DUKE INCREASED

Other recommendations were that the annual grant to the Duke of Gloucester be increased £10,000 to £30,000 in view of the additional duties he has been obliged to assume during the princes' minority, and that Queen Mary's annuity of £70,000 be continued.

The committee stipulated the grant to Princess Elizabeth and the additional grant to the Duke of Gloucester should be drawn from the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall. The Duke of Windsor, who, as Prince of Wales and later as King in the absence of a Prince of Wales, was beneficiary of the Cornwall revenues, was not mentioned in the report. It was assumed he would be provided for privately by the royal family.

The provision for the crown the committee stated it considered "adequate" but "not more than adequate."

GREATER SIMPLICITY

An amendment to the report proposed by Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor opposition in the house, urging that "greater simplicity in the state and ceremonial of the court is desirable to bring it into accord with modern conceptions" was defeated and a contrary one proposed by Winston Churchill adopted.

Passed by a vote of 12 to 3, Churchill's amendment declared "the ancient usages and ceremonies centring upon the crown have become, even more than in former times, a bulwark against dictatorship, and a symbol of the union of all members of the British Commonwealth of Nations."

If the King and Queen should have a son, the committee indicated the annuity of £15,000 to Princess Elizabeth would be subject to revision. For each son of the King and Queen, provision should be made for annuities of £10,000 to be paid to a trustee to be held until the son reaches his majority. In case of marriage, the son's grant should be raised to £25,000, the report advised.

NAZIS STRETCH VATICAN BREACH

BERLIN, May 4—German courts today aggravated the dispute between Nazidom and Catholicism by sending 11 Catholic lay brothers to jail for terms ran[illegible] from three months to four years.

A Coblenz court sentenced Franciscan Brother Oundram to four years in the pen[illegible]tary and loss of civil rights for five years on charges of premeditated fatal assault.

At Paderborn Brother Wendolin was ordered to jail for three years with loss of civil rights for alleged immorality with minors. A Bonn court jailed six other brothers, on the same charge for terms of from seven to 18 months.

Three other Franciscans were jailed at Coblenz for aiding "immoral" brothers across German frontiers.

Coronation Menu Hotel, Ship, Train, All Same On C.P.

MONTREAL, May 4—A special souvenir coronation menu issued by the Canadian Pacific will have what is believed to be the largest simultaneous use of any menu ever made, for it will be used at dinner on May 12 on all the company's ships which are at sea, whether on the Atlantic or the Pacific, at all the company hotels, and on all the company's dining cars and restaurants.

To fill so widespread a demand, it was necessary to print nearly 19,000 copies, and in order that the simultaneous release should be possible at the far-distant points, it was necessary to despatch the first supplies, which were to Hongkong, on March 12.

The menu is a large and beautiful one in gold and royal blue, with the Canadian coat of arms and the latest portrait of Their Majesties the King and Queen.

AUSTRALIA TO ENGLAND MARK FALLS

H. F. BROADBENT

LONDON, May 4.—The air record from Australia to England was lowered more than a full day today when H. F. Broadbent, Australian distance flier, landed at Lympne six days, 16 hours and 55 minutes after he left Australia.

The mark he broke was established in 1935 by H. L. Brook, British airman now engaged in trying to set a new mark between Cape Town and London. Brook's old mark was seven days, 19 hours, 50 minutes.

At Hanworth Broadbent said the flight was "uneventful." The most anxious time, he said, "was near Rangoon when I ran into storms that preceded a monsoon but I got through safely."

ALGIERS, French Morocco, May 4.—Prince Catacuzene of Rumania today admitted failure in his attempt to break the air speed record from England to Cape Town. A sputtering engine forced him to return here.

JO-JOTTE — A Pointer

By ELY CULBERTSON

It is an advantage to be the declarer at Jo-Jotte. Whereas in bridge a player should think first of penalizing the opponents when he has a good hand, in Jo-Jotte a player should think of becoming declarer and scoring game or rubber. A sound bidder is very rarely set at Jo-Jotte; he is playing at a favorable trump suit (since he has voluntarily named it); and his opponent's score is consequently almost sure to be a small figure which will go above the line.

The beginner's logical question is: "When is my hand good enough to warrant becoming declarer. The answer depends on the structure of the game. In Jo-Jotte victory is won by scoring points rather than by winning tricks, as at bridge. The declarer undertakes to score more points than his adversary.

Points are scored in two ways: By melds, and in the play of the cards. For purposes of bidding, the meld is unimportant. In more than 50 per cent of all Jo-Jotte hands there is no meld at all; and in the rest of them, the meld is almost always only a "twenty" (three card sequence). The point which can be won in the play of the average hand total 100 at a trump suit and 85 at no trump.

Before a player becomes declarer he should be reasonably sure of winning a majority; 60 at a trump suit and 50 at no trump. But remember that a player bids on his first six cards whereas he lays the play with nine cards. Since he has two-thirds of his cards (6 cards out of 9) he should reduce correspondingly the figures just given. They are, then: 40 at a trump suit and 35 at no trump.

It may occur to you that these figures do not give declarer very much leeway. Perhaps he will draw three worthless cards, or perhaps the opponent will meld a twenty and eke out a victory. These would be valid objections if I recommended that you become declarer with an expected total of 40 in the play of the cards. But actually that figure 40 represents the point value of your own sure winning cards. Naturally you will capture some of your adversary's cards when you win tricks, and those will bring your total up well above 40. Furthermore, selection of a favorable trump suit gives you a great advantage in the struggle for the last trick (worth 10 points). Those two factors, therefore—the cards you will win from your adversary and the advantage in the struggle for the last trick—constitute your margin of safety against bad luck.

12 Million Poor Chinese Enroll For Education

NANKING, May 4.—Spectacular indication of the interest of Chinese illiterates in education was shown today in figures released by the Nanking National government's ministry of education.

The statistics showed 12,000,000 men, women and children had enrolled in free schools since the recent beginning of attempts to provide educational facilities for the poorer classes.

The ministry said it expected 20,000,000 more pupils would present themselves during the next year.

INJUSTICES TO PRAIRIES FORM COWPER'S TOPIC

Liberals Hear Analysis Of Obstacles To Western Development

Crushing burden of the tariff, unjust freight rates, shortage of money and exorbitant interest rates all combine to place barriers in the way of Western Canadian prosperity, J. S. Cowper told a large public meeting sponsored by the Edmonton Young Men's Liberal Association Monday night.

Speaking on "What's Wrong With The West", Mr. Cowper said that the Prairie provinces, due to this discrimination, no longer seemed heirs to a glorious destiny but were weighed down by serious economic grievances.

"Something must be done to end these great injustices under which Western Canada now labors," he stressed.

LAURIER PROPHECY

Summarizing the causes which have resulted in an erosion of Sir Wilfred Laurier's happy prophecy of 1905 that "the next quarter century belongs to Canada", Mr. Cowper contrasted the existing condition with the progress prevailing when the great statesman uttered his prediction.

"There was work for all then; today there is staggering unemployment. All were prosperous then; they are losing them now. The West then laughed at the East as the 'east heifer'. Now the East is the dollar belt and we are the debtor belt."

"We have our broad prairies, our golden harvests, our crimson sunsets and at the coast our forest-clad hills, our all the year round harbors. But we have insufficient backs to bear the crushing burden of debt. To the great majority of our fellow-westerners, life instead of being a gallant adventure is a continuous and hazardous uncertainty."

FACTORIES IN EAST

There has been an artificial concentration of manufacturing in the East, he continued, following a centralization of financial power and ability to manipulate tariffs and freight schedules, until the prairie provinces "have become virtually a colonial possession of Eastern Canada."

Mr. Cowper expressed his contempt for politicians of both parties who "burdened Canada to enrich railway contractors and swell party war-chests." Deploring the unnecessary spanning of a continent by duplicate railway lines, the speaker pointed out that in their rivalry for the same trade the C.P.R. and C.N.R. dodge one another down the Fraser river canyon."

"Domestic wheat rates from Calgary to Vancouver, 642 miles, are $6.30 per ton. The rate from Calgary to Montreal, 2,242 miles, is $6.61 4-5 per ton. It costs nearly five times as much to ship wheat per ton mile to Vancouver as to Montreal."

CITES COAL RATES

"Coal rates to Winnipeg on Alberta coal, a distance of 1,000 miles, are $5.20 per ton, though wheat is carried from Owen Sound to Halifax, 1,300 miles, for $1.67 a ton. It costs four times as much to carry Alberta coal to Canadian markets as Ontario wheat." Mr. Cowper argued as he cited artificial obstacles erected by Eastern Canada to the development of the West."

The rate to Edmonton on hardware and canned goods from the East was based on the rate to Vancouver, plus the rate back again over the mountains to Edmonton.

"The purpose of an economic system is the production and distribution of goods in maximum quantity with a minimum of effort. But eastern Canadian financiers have made our development one-sided.

FOLLY FOR FARMERS

"Hon. Norman Rogers, now minister of labor, has calculated that the enhancement of prices by the tariff—which may be good for textile manufacturers selling in a closed market but is folly to farmers competing with the world—amounted in 1931 alone to just under $28,000,000 to Alberta.

"In other words, every family in this province had to pay tribute of $200 to the beneficiaries of the tariff living in eastern Canada.

"We need men who understand and will assail these vital issues of finance, wage schedules, tariff rates, freight tolls and reciprocal trade if the west is ever to achieve the promise of its youth.

"We need men," Mr. Cowper concluded in a ringing peroration, "who will serve as public tribunes and wage valiant warfare for public right."

Graziani Expected To Quit Ethiopia

ROME, May 4—Informed sources said today poor health probably will force Marshall Rodolfo Graziani to give up his post as viceroy at Ethiopia. It was admitted 100 wounds received by Graziani when an attempt was made on his life last February at Addis Ababa have undermined his health.

Informed circles mentioned Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Libya, as a possible successor.

Canadian Freed After 42 Years In Penitentiary

OTTAWA, May 4.—After 42 years in prison, Francis Valentine Cuibert Shortis has been released on ticket-of-leave, it was learned today. He was serving a life sentence for murder and was confined in Kingston penitentiary and other institutions.

Shortis was convicted at Beauharnois, Que., in 1893, and was sentenced to be hanged on Jan. 3, 1896, but at the last minute his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment. He was 18 years old when convicted, and is now 60.

ARCA TO QUIT DRILLING IN SOUTH TURNER

CALGARY, May 4—H. R. Milner, K.C., of Edmonton, president of the Arca Development company, said today there would be no further drilling on the company's deep test well in South Turner Valley.

"As far as oil production from the limestone in the well is concerned, we're through," he said. Sulphur water pouring into the 8,988 feet deep hole threatened to ruin the well, he said, and to prevent this an attempt would be made to shut off the sulphur water with a 200 foot cement plug.

He said an effort would be made to obtain production from the Dalhousie sands at 8,600 feet.

U.S. CHARGES HOFFMAN IN WENDEL KIDNAP

Startling Testimony Promised by Federal Counsel in Conspiracy Case

NEWARK, N.J., May 4—Evidence that Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey knew about the seizure of Paul H. Wendel in the Lindbergh kidnapping case before Wendel's "confession" broke publicly during final efforts to save Bruno Richard Hauptmann was promised by the United States government in the opening trial of Ellis H. Parker and his son, Ellis, Jr.

"There will be evidence here that Governor Hoffman knew about this proceeding," said United States Attorney John Quinn in opening the case against the Parkers.

Whether or not the bill of goods was sold by the Parkers to Governor Hoffman, I do not know," he added.

Quinn charged the senior Parker, chief of Burlington County detectives, believed Wendel "had a mental twist" which would enable him to induce Wendel to plead guilty to the Lindbergh crime.

"If he pleaded guilty," Quinn said, "then the thought was people in the country would rise up and prevent the execution of Hauptmann."

Parker, Quinn said, boasted to Wendel and to an alleged co-conspirator of the "power" he had and talked of himself as possibly getting the place of J. Edgar Hoover as chief of the United States federal bureau of investigation and of Governor Hoffman perhaps becoming vice president of the United States.

WHAT IT WOULD MEAN

Quinn said he would show that Parker told Murray Bleefeld, one of three co-defendants who changed their pleas from not guilty to guilty yesterday, "as to what Hoffman could do, what it would mean for the Parkers and what it would mean for Hoffman and what it would mean to others."

Bleefeld, Martin Schlossman and Harry Weiss, all of Brooklyn, changed their pleas shortly after the jury of eight women and four men was sworn in. Bleefeld previously pleaded guilty to a New York state charge of kidnapping Wendel, and Schlossman and Weiss were convicted of that charge.

Man Can Now Talk With God, Says Noted Psychologist

MOSCOW, IDAHO.—"A new and revolutionary religious teaching based entirely on the misunderstood sayings of the Galilean Carpenter, and designed to show how we may find, understand and use the same identical power which Jesus used in performing His so-called Miracles," is attracting world wide attention to its founder Dr. Frank B. Robinson, noted psychologist, author and lecturer.

"Psychiana," this new psychological religion, believes and teaches that it is today possible for every normal human being, understanding spiritual law as Christ understood it, "to duplicate every work that the Carpenter of Galilee ever did"—it believes and teaches that and when He said, "the things that I do shall ye do also." He meant what He said and meant it literally to mean all mankind, through all the ages.

Dr. Robinson has prepared a 6000 word treatise on "Psychiana," in which he tells about his long search for the Truth, how he finally came to the full realization of an Unseen Power or force "so dynamic in itself that all other powers and forces fade into insignificance beside it"—how he learned to commune directly with the Living God, using this mighty, never-failing power to demonstrate health, happiness and financial success, and how any normal being may find and use it as Jesus did. He is now offering this Treatise free to every reader of this paper who writes him.

If you want to read this "highly interesting, revolutionary and fascinating story of the discovery of a great Truth," just send your name and address to Dr. Frank B Robinson 12-38th Street, Moscow, Idaho. It will be sent free and prepaid without cost or obligation. Write the Doctor today.—Copyright 1935, Dr. Frank B. Robinson.—Advertisement.

CANADA PROFITS FROM USE OF CANADIAN NICKEL IN MANCHURIA

IN THREE DECADES Manchuria has been transformed from a region of feudal lords, bandits and nomad herdsmen into a prosperous agricultural and commercial land. Great streamlined locomotives glide into newly-built cities. Steam shovels are moving mountains. Fleets of tractors till the fields. One of the greatest bridges in all Asia spans the Yalu River.

Modern industrial methods have come to Manchuria and along with industry comes Canadian Nickel. Nickel steel for the boiler plate in those mighty locomotives to give greater strength with less weight. Nickel steel in the bridges, steam shovels, tractors and other industrial equipment. Nickel to resist wear, breakage and corrosion. Nickel from Canadian mines.

For ever with the march of civilization and industry go International Nickel's engineers, pointing out the advantages of Nickel in the production of better materials. And behind the engineering staff, stands the great Nickel research organization, ready to develop special Nickel alloys to overcome new obstacles. The Nickel ore in Canadian mines creates income for Canada only when mined, refined, and sold. Then—and then only—does new wealth come back to Canada to speed prosperity throughout the land.

CANADIAN NICKEL FOLLOWS WORLD INDUSTRY

THE SILVERY, SANITARY Monel SINK

This fine product of International Nickel's research department deserves a place in every home. Monel is positively rust-proof. It stoutly resists the corrosive attacks of food juices which play havoc with most materials. It does not chip or crack. And because of the natural resiliency of the metal, it lessens dish breakage and clatter. See the beautiful Monel sinks with their greater working space, their distinctive design and their silvery lustre. Ask your architect or plumber, or write for literature.

LUCKY CALGARY

Calgary's mill rate for this year is 52, a drop of 4 mills from last year. Edmonton's rate is 54 mills, a reduction of only one mill from last year. Calgary evidently got a better deal from Mr. Fortin than Edmonton did. Perhaps for the reason both the city council and Mr. Fortin knew the deal there had to run the gauntlet of the Calgary taxpayers, while the Edmonton taxpayers had to submit to whatever scheme the bond-dealers and a compliant majority of the city council chose to put over them.

HE JUST "TELLS" THEM

Mr. Neville Chamberlain announced the other day that he would issue bonds for a defence loan of 100 million pounds, roughly, $500,000,000. The interest rate would be 3½ per cent, and the bonds would be issued at 99-2.

Just like that. Nothing about wondering whether the market was favorable or whether it might refuse to buy. Nothing about asking the bond-men what they would think of waiting to see what they would offer. No suggestion of any power higher than the state which had to be consulted as to interest rate, price, or terms of payment, and which might crash the whole issue if it didn't get what it wanted.

Apparently they have got away from all that hocus-pocus business in England. When the Chancellor wants money he says how much he is going to get and what rate he is going to pay. And since everybody's job depends on some of the situation, there isn't any back chat from the banks or the bond-houses.

In Canada our Government pays 3 per cent or more for loans, and there is wonder at the lowering of the rate enjoyed by the former rates. The provinces pay up to twice that much. There are pretty open threats from the financial headmen that the Dominion will have to pay more. Even at Washington rates have been "firming" and loans are predicted at more "firming" still.

It is to be hoped Premier King and Mr. Dunning during their stay in London will get time to drop around and ask Mr. Chamberlain what it was he said to the money moguls that made them take second place and allow him to actually "manage" money, and do it in a way they probably don't like. A little of the same kind of "superiority complex" at Ottawa, and acceptance of Government authority in money management at St. James Street, would be helpful and most welcome to the Canadian public.

THE WORK PROGRAM

The one good feature of the Fortin debt extending plan is that it enables the city to use the existing fund to make capital improvements, which otherwise could not be made without issuing new bonds, in a market decidedly unfavorable.

The legislature could have given the city this power without acceptance of the debt-extension plan, but it was not asked to do so.

Under this arrangement council is free to spend the money for what improvements it may please, without consulting the taxpayers, as would have to be done if new bonds were to be issued and sold. The intention is to spend the $3,000,000 thus made available over a four-year period, starting off with $942,000 during the present year. This, of course, is contingent on the city being able to sell the bonds in which the funds have been invested rapidly enough to provide the money as required.

Council on Saturday adopted the spending program for this year. The selection seems to have been kept to improvements for which there is need, or which will be revenue-producing because betterments of one or other of the utility systems.

The carrying out of these undertakings will provide a large amount of employment, which is as badly needed as the improvements themselves. This no doubt was one of the main considerations of council in accepting the Fortin plan and in drafting the program. Responsibility in the circumstances rests upon council to see that the city gets value for the money it pays, as to the projects selected and as to the way they are carried out, since the taxpayers have nothing to say in the matter.

A fortunate feature is that the program has been prepared early in the season. This should ensure work getting under way promptly, and employment being provided as soon as possible for whatever number of men can be used.

FACING FACTS

Premier Aberhart on Sunday got down to some of the difficulties which have to be faced and solved before there can be any such thing as a Social Credit economy, in Alberta or anywhere else. Difficulties which have been apparent to non-Social Crediters from the outset, but which have never been fully and critically discussed in public from the view-point of the holders of that theory.

The Premier said it had come to his attention that "Some Social Crediters imagine Social Credit means merely distributing purchasing power to consumers, and they are wondering why it isn't done for them. If that is all our people know of Social Credit I am very sorry, for they have no conception whatever of the fundamentals of economics. Distributing purchasing power will not give food, clothing and shelter if there is none to buy. It is therefore essential to see that there is enough produced to provide for our people as well as to distribute." Moreover, Alberta was not a self-contained country. It must import, and must in some way acquire "foreign exchange" to pay for its imports.

It would have made for clearness of understanding, more profitable discussion, less impulsive political action, and less unreasonable expectations, if these things had been said and emphasized in the beginning.

A year and a half ago there was no thought of any shortage of production in the minds of the people of Alberta. There was in sight an abundance of goods of all kinds. All that was lacking was money to buy the goods, or something that could be used for money. That was the one thing needed, wanted and looked for.

Then came the promise of dividends, sufficient to sustain life, distributed freely to everyone. It sounded too good to be true to some; but to a tremendous majority it sounded like the promise of manna to the Children of Israel. The dividends would bridge the gap between their urgent needs and wants and the super-abundant stores in sight. What wonder if to them Social Credit came to mean dividends and little or nothing more than dividends? Purchasing power was the one thing they lacked. They voted for it. And many are still expecting it, or hoping to get it.

Experience has shown that distributing the dividends is not the sure remedy supposed. This frank admission will not be welcome news to many. That cannot be helped. Theories cannot abolish facts. They have to be made conform to them. If that is impossible, the theory breaks down of it own weakness. There can be no credit, social or any other kind, unless there is a corresponding amount of goods—or services —for which it can be exchanged at home or abroad. Distributing buying power means distributing goods—other people's goods.

What Does The Curing?

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

Anyone who has been around sick people knows that the first thing they want to know is how they can become cured. When a cure is achieved it then becomes interesting to try to figure out what did the curing.

Dr. F. McCoy

We can not get very far away from the fact that in most diseases there are only two things which are going to happen: either the patient is going to get better or he is going to get worse. Knowing this, it is easy to understand how, if the patient gets well while he is using some certain treatment, he is going to give the credit for his recovery to whatever kind of treatment was being used. That particular kind of treatment may appear very foolish to us, and yet the patient is thoroughly convinced that it put him back on his feet.

Many times it may seem to us that the patient would have gotten well anyway, even if he had left off the treatment. Or it may seem to us that he recovered in spite of the treatment and not because of it. In other words, the measure employed may have had no power in itself of alleviating the condition for which it was used.

However, we are then faced with the fact that the patient did start to get better soon after beginning the treatment. The explanation probably lies in the fact that the treatment of itself was a strong suggestion and that it was the power of suggestion which did the work. When the patient sees any remedy he may be influenced by the suggestion which accompanies it. He may have the feeling that something is being done for him which is sure to make him improve, and with that expectancy of improvement, he starts to feel better. Suggestion is, of course, much more effective when the patient has implicit confidence in the thing suggested.

Therefore, he may be helped toward recovery, not by the treatment itself, but by the mental effect coming from the suggestion associated with the treatment. Thus, one answer to the question of what does the curing is the answer that a strong mental suggestion may start the curative process.

However, in any kind of cure, we must keep coming back to the principle that there is nothing outside of the body which has any inherent healing power. The real power to cure comes from the body itself. That power is the force which really does the curing. Hippocrates, called "The Father of Medicine," is supposed to have made the statement, "The body hath in it the power to cure."

In the treatment of any disorder, the only logical treatment is that which helps the body in what it is trying to do. Treatment is helpful only insofar as it works with the curative power which is trying to restore the body to normal.

We can help the curative process by such measures as diet, rest, sunshine and fresh air. We can also help in many instances by using such measures as heat, massage, various kinds of water treatments, or exercise. When there is a definite mechanical factor involved, we can help by correcting the mechanical defect. For example, if the patient has a broken leg, we can set the leg and bring the two ends more together. But after that we must wait upon the real healing power of the body to knit those two ends together. The body heals the break.

The power of healing, or the power of restoring the normal state, is born within the body. It is not created by any outside agent. In recognizing from any disease, the main thing to do is to let that power do its work, without doing anything to hinder it. The body will do its best to bring about a cure of any ailment, if given a chance.

In other words, I believe that the real answer to the question of what does the curing is this: the healing forces within the body are the forces which bring about the cure.

Poems That Live

LOVE'S PERJURIES
From "Love's Labor Lost"

On a day, alack the day!
Love, whose month is ever May,
Spied a blossom passing fair
Playing in the wanton air:
Through the velvet leaves the wind,
All unseen, 'gan passage find;
That the lover, sick to death,
Wished himself the heaven's breath,
Air, quoth he, thy cheeks may blow;
Air, would I might triumph so!
But, alack, my hand is sworn
Ne'er to pluck thee from thy thorn:
Vow, alack, for youth unmeet;
Youth to eat to pluck a sweet.
Do not call it sin in me
That I am forsworn for thee:
Thou for whom e'en Jove would swear
Juno but an Ethiope were,
And deny himself for Jove,
Turning mortal for thy love.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Only a few more days and all the pomp and panoply of Britain will be lavished on the coronation of George and Elizabeth. Westminster Abbey will hold six thousand people, but only a fraction of those privileged with tickets will be able to see or hear the ceremony. They will see the processions of notables, but only those in the inner church—the peers and peeresses, high officials of state, senior clergy, foreign ambassadors and members of the British cabinet —will be seated in position to witness the ceremony. If you are numbered among those who haven't the time or money or official prestige to be among those present, comfort yourself with the knowledge that you'll know more about it after you've read this column, than if you had a seat in the Abbey nave.

In a few weeks' time, if lighting arrangements prove successful, you may see the glamorous ceremony on the screen of the Edmonton picture theatres in color. Four concealed cameras will attempt to record the ceremony.

What a colorful show it will be! Its stately ritual goes back to the early kings of the isle, and further back to the anointing of the prophets of Israel.

Let us assume you are a privileged member of the peerage. You will have to be on hand soon after eight in the morning on May 12th, at the great doors of Westminster Abbey, wearing the scarlet, ermine-trimmed robes of your rank over your uniform or dress, and your crimson and ermine trimmed coronet under your left arm. Before the high altar are placed the chairs of state, the Coronation Chair and the royal thrones. On that ancient Coronation chair with its four carved lions, has been crowned every monarch of England since Edward I used it in the year 1274. In a space beneath the seat reposes the coronation stone, the Scottish Lia Fail, or "Stone of Destiny", on which the Irish kings of Tara were crowned. Tradition has it that this is the stone on which Jacob at Bethel rested his head and dreamed of the angels descending from heaven. The Scots captured it from the Irish, the English took it from the Scots, and for long the kings of the United Kingdom have used it.

You may have a tiresome wait, but on the seventh stroke of "Big Ben" over the Houses of Parliament as he tolls the hour of noon, the doors will open and the procession from the Jerusalem room to the altar. Robed clergy will follow him in slow procession. Behind them will be the scholars from the Westminster school in evening dress, exercising their ancient right to be present and to sit in the gallery during the Coronation service.

Next to the golden altar, ablaze with the Crown jewels, will come the resplendent officials of the College of Heralds—Rouge Dragon, Bluemantle, Norry, Clareceux and Portcullis—with costumes as weird as their names. They will call on many instances the visiting kings who have come to honor the new monarch.

Next to the visting kings and princes will parade the corps of ambassadors in diplomatic dress with robes of blue and silver, yellow, green and red. Then the peers entering them will be that of the American ambassador, in black and white evening dress.

Following the ambassadors will come the King's champion, to challenge all comers who dispute him. Then will follow the gold stick bearer and cup bearer in heraldic attire.

Then comes the Queen, preceded by the full regalia of crown, sceptre and ivory rod. She will wear a royal purple train. At her coming, the Westminster boys in the gallery shout in Latin, "Vivat Regina! Vivat! Vivat!"

Following Her Majesty will be the Duke of Norfolk as Earl Marshal and premier peer of the realm, with lords bearing the golden spurs, then the lord high constable with the three sword-bearers of the king, one carrying the sword of justice, another the sword of mercy, and the third the sword of state.

Enter more officers of state and three dukes, carrying the sceptre, the orb and the Crown. Then His Majesty enters the nave, followed by two bishops, the royal train being carried by the Master of the Robes.

The church ritual is highly impressive. Before the assembled peers and dignitaries, the Archbishop of Canterbury takes the king by the hand and turns him towards each of the four cardinal points of the compass. At each point he says to the assembly:

"Sirs, I present to you King George, the undoubted King of this realm.

"Wherefore all of you who are come this day to do him homage, are you willing to do the same?"

To this demand the answer is repeated three times, "God Save King George!"

After hearing the Litany with bared head, the King dons the cap of maintenance and takes his seat in the Coronation Chair, the Queen sitting near by.

"Sire," demands the archbishop, "are you willing to take the oath?"

Upon the King's acceptance the oath is propounded. He swears with one hand on the Bible to "cause law and justice in mercy to be executed" in all his judgements to safeguard the Protestant religion and uphold the State Church. As he signs the oath, four knights of the garter step forward holding over the King's head a cloth of gold cahopy, lined with white satin and carried on silver poles. With sacred oil, poured from a golden vessel, the archbishop anoints the head of the King, opens the King's vestments and further anoints him on the bare breast and the hands, consecrating the King to his people. With that completed, he sets the crown of St. Edward upon the head of the monarch.

Somewhat similar ceremony follows as four peeresses take the golden canopy. The Queen is anointed upon the head before receiving the queen's crown, containing the famous Koh-i-noor diamond among its costly jewels.

This done the peers and peeresses don their coronets and shout, "God Save the King and Queen". After the Recessional the newly-crowned monarchs doff their robes of cloth of gold, purple and ermine for less ornate clothes, for the customary ride through London in the royal golden coach.

These courtly impressarios in old England know how to put on a colorful show when occasion demands.

SIDE GLANCES — By George Clark

"But you gotta have three summer boarders to get scraps enough to feed one hog."

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

Today's record is a queer mixture of good and bad events. On May 4, 1776 Benedict Arnold, who had besieged Quebec from November, decided that he had had enough and began the withdrawal of his army, realizing that his attempt to "conquer Canada" had failed, due to British soldiers, French Canadian militia and the influence of the Roman Catholic clergy. Within a few weeks his whole army was in headlong retreat down Lake Champlain.

In 1793 Governor Simcoe saw the harbor of Toronto for the first time and decided that it would make a good garrison point and possibly could be made the seat of government. So began Toronto. If you live outside that area don't blame Simcoe; he chose the site for just military reasons; it was the people who came after him who gave Toronto that desire so much resented outside Toronto, that itch for grabbing everything in sight and believing that the sun rises on the Don and sets on the Humber!

In 1814 Admiral Yeo and his little fleet visited Ogdensburg and gave that place a dose of the medicine which the Americans had given York the previous year. By that time he had complete control of Lake Ontario.

On May 4, 1890, the lunatic asylum at Longue Pointe, near Montreal, was burned. Over 100 perished in one of the most dreadful holocausts in Canadian history.

And in 1910 the house of commons carried the Laurier bill to create a Canadian navy, which was prevented of fruition for party reasons, but which is now recognized by all thinking Canadians as the only honorable way in which Canada can defend her coasts.

MORRIS BAKER'S RETURN

Editor Bulletin: I was in to see Morris Baker since his return to Edmonton and he feels not a little thankful for the kind inquiries which have been made and solicits the unprejudical forbearance and interest of his friends. There appear to be none in Edmonton who feel some envious satisfaction at his present predicament and all I have to say is to quote the words of the Master: "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone."

TAKEN CARE OF

Editor Bulletin: Now that the thirteen young men who were cut off relief in March are being provided for—some being re-instated and others having obtained employment, we wish to take this opportunity to thank the many friends who so kindly helped by their contributions to provide food and shelter for these unfortunate fellows. We are sure that they would feel amply repaid had you seen the way these men kept account of their expenses and refused to accept our help if perchance they could obtain food elsewhere.

Our Social Research Committee has prepared a very full report of the incident and will mail a copy to anyone interested.

WAR'S HELPLESS VICTIMS

Inseparable from war are the dangers thrust upon the civil population, the non-combatants, the aged, the women and the children. At the moment most of the world is shocked by the destruction wrought by Spanish insurgents on the Bilbao front. European governments are being urged to make indignant protest; but what is there to be gained by protest unbacked by readiness to act? In a country under invasion or one torn by civil strife those who are not in arms are inevitably and fearfully exposed to the ravages of siege and bombardment. Arms in fighting hands or in the conduct of a city or town haven't much time for humane discrimination in the infliction of damage.—Seattle Times.

THE SECOND THOUGHT

We are disposed to agree pretty thoroughly with Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., in his defence of the Canadian Senate before the Vancouver Canadian Club the other day.

In fact, the Senator's definition of the Senate's function was a complete exposition of the bicameral system of government in any country.

Any second legislative chamber is intended to provide the sober second thought in all government action.

It purports to be a field of legislative deliberation for men of riper experience and richer judgment than the average young fellow who is likely to be pitched into the maelstrom of practical politics that sometimes rages in the Commons.

So far, Senator Farris is completely right in principle.

But as we have seen in Canada, the Senate sometimes degenerates into a mere obturate brake on public action.

The sober second thought becomes a drawn-out game of political chess.

The senators, instead of adding caution and deliberation to political progress, merely sit in the bow of the ship of state and block their venerable feet.

But if we have seen, in our brief history, the stagnant side of the senatorial function, we have also seen that body functioning in a highly useful and invaluable way. —Vancouver Sun.

POWERS FOR PEACE

Friends of Anglo-American friendship doubtless will have noted with satisfaction reference the other day by President Roosevelt to what he termed a great common aim of the British and American peoples. The American president, replying to a request from a prominent American newspaper for a message in connection with the approaching coronation in England—an event that is inviting much interest in the United States—declared: "It is a simple statement of a truth but one which cannot be too often affirmed, that the United States and Great Britain have one great common concern—the preservation of peace throughout the world. While national means and methods of conserving peace may be more secure and stable may rightly vary, this common objective stands over a common inspiration."—Ottawa Journal.

Sunshine Shafts

The following announcement was read by the curate at a small church: "Would the member of the congregation who wrote in a hymn book last Sunday 'Is each way Dejah on Wednesday,' kindly remove the page, as the Vicar found it most misleading."

A lady had in her employ an excellent Irish maid who had but one fault—her face was always dirty. Her mistress tried to tell her, without causing offence, to wash it.

"Do you know, Jane," she remarked in a confidential manner, "that if you wash your face every day in hot, soapy water, it will make your beautiful."

"Indade, ma'am" replied the girl "Then shure it's a wonder ye niver tried it, ma'am."

"Is smoking permitted, conductor?"

"No."

"Well, where did all these fags come from?"

"From people who didn't ask questions."

NEW OBSTACLE IN PATHS OF SWEEPSTAKES

Suspected Letters Are Refused Mail, Postmaster Announces

OTTAWA, May 4—The post office department has put a new obstacle in the way of lottery promoters. Hereafter, Postmaster General J. C. Elliott said today, letters suspected of containing lottery tickets or remittances will be marked with a warning and returned to the senders.

"Many well-intentioned people are concerned with lotteries," Mr. Elliott said, "but when the lotteries are conducted under cover there is no means of telling how much is taken out before any money is returned to the winners.

ARE ILLEGAL

"In any event lotteries are illegal under the criminal code and mail respecting them is not properly mailable matter under the Post Office act."

The post office authorities have always had the power to return suspected matter, he explained, but in 1934 a regulation was put in effect that the officials would take action only "Where a complaint has been received."

LEGAL OPINION

The opinion of legal advisers was that this negatived the purpose of the act as a lottery might be conducted for some time before anyone troubled to send a complaint to the department.

A new regulation has recently been approved which removes the proviso respecting complaints and the officials may act whenever their suspicions are aroused.

Drumheller Jobless May Ignore Maynard's Visit

Special to Edmonton Bulletin

DRUMHELLER, May 4—Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of relief, sent word to Drumheller that on his visit here he would receive no more than five representatives of workless from the provincially administered local improvement district to hear their grievances.

Central Council of Unemployed, which had previously elected seven delegates to wait on the minister, decided Monday that unless the full delegation were received Mr. Maynard could return to Edmonton without an interview.

Workless are agitating for increased relief allowances, but the main bone of contention in the present agitation is against the 1937 ruling of the relief commission that miners who have earned between $300 and $400 during the winter season shall be ineligible for relief.

In previous years some miners whose winter work totalled as high as $700 have been on relief rolls before the summer ended.

Central Council officials claim that relief applicants are being told to sell household goods, including washing machines and radios.

"Let's All Be Merry," a program based on the music halls of Britain, will be presented over the western network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation May 12, at 8.30 p.m. Edmonton time as a special Coronation Day broadcast feature from the Toronto studios.

"Let's All Be Merry" will introduce such celebrities of the halls of Glasgow, London, and Manchester, as Stella Tilley, George Formby, and Sir Harry Lauder, who will be impersonated by leading variety stars of the CBC Toronto studios. The title of the program was inspired by the first line of a famous Coronation song that the British music hall fans sang the night that Edward the Seventh honoured by the world as "The Peacemaker," came to the throne of England. "Let's All Be Merry" also will recall scenes of past Coronation celebrations in the variety theatres of England through the songs that have lived since the days of Victoria.

MICHAEL ST. DENIS,

who acted as final adjudicator of the Dominion Drama Festival held last week in Ottawa, was heard in a broadcast talk over the national network of the CBC yesterday.

LONDON WARY NOT TO CAUSE BUS DISORDERS

Private Firm's Offer Of Service Is Rejected By Board

LONDON, May 4—A Labor spokesman said today any attempt to set up an omnibus or bus service might bring "disorders."

"The business have been quiet and orderly, but they do not want any provocation like this," the spokesman said. An offer by private firms to set up emergency bus lines was made to the London Transport Board which however, showed no signs of accepting.

Bevin's assertion that bus speeds imposed nervous fatigue on operators was supported by Dr. A. Woodhall of the Manor House Hospital.

Dr. Woodhall told the court of inquiry he found an increasing number of gastric complaints among business due to irregular hours, vibration and nervous tension. Gastric ulcers were becoming more and more common among the men, he said.

BRITONS INVEST NEAR NINETEEN BILLIONS ABROAD

LONDON, May 4—Dr. E. L. Burlin, Board of Trade undersecretary, told the House of Commons British investments overseas are estimated at £3,800,000,000 ($18,734,000,000).

While no official estimate existed, Dr. Burgin told the house the rough estimate was t Sir Robert Kindersley, banker, who listed investments at £520,000,000 in Canada, £540,000,000 in Australia £150,000,000 in New Zealand; £280,000,000 in South Africa and £400,000,000 in Argentina and the remainder in other countries.

Little Girl, Five Victim, Succumbs

OTTAWA, May 4—Joyce Beattie, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs Lawrence Beattie, died last night from burns suffered when her dress ignited as she watched a grass fire. Her mother's hands were burned when she tried to beat out her daughter's flaming dress.

Bulletin Patterns

By Anne Adams

"Prettiest at the party" and the wears an adorable capelet frock to wear her playtime hours! Just how smart a little girl can look in this new and popular peplin-style. Such an easy pattern to follow, too, for as you see, those wee small capelets are cut all-in-one with the scalloped yoke, and together frame her pretty face. Best of all, you'll realize a grand style when you order Pattern 4282, for this frock is so fashion-right as can be for everyday. Dotted swiss, dimity or batiste are nice for parties or Sunday best, while sturdy cotton broadcloth, percale or gingham are school or playtime dependables. For a bright note of color, choose the gayest novelty button accents you can find. Order the pattern today!

Pattern 4282 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 6 takes 2¾ yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

The Bridal Guests Unbridle Appetites

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

The size of your wedding breakfast does not determine how much fun it will be. Some of the merriest of years you will stay married. If it did, the Count and Countess de Trafalgar surely would remain married for eternity.

Roger Crotonia, executive chef of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco, was in charge of their wedding breakfast. He persists in keeping his recipes a secret, yet he will tell what he served at that nationally discussed California wedding. Just a snack, you understand, beginning with 1200 assorted fancy canapes, plus smoked salmon, fillets of anchovies, sardines, domestic caviar and foie gras to awaken the gayest appetites.

THEN THEY BEGAN TO EAT

There came hot food, salmon mousse, lobster mousse, ham mousse, hams in jelly decorated with elaborate designs of the bride and groom, salad of chicken, truffles, celery knobs and artichokes, stuffed eggs a la Francaise, small French pastries, fruit sherbets, small, fancy assorted petits pains and butter and coffee. That was a buffet for the standing guests to nibble at, but the bridal party sat down and added hot consomme, seafood souffle, potatoes, asparagus tips, bombe Neapolitaine and petit fours in spun sugar baskets to their achievements.

But such magnificence, though pleasant enough for the guests, isn't at all necessary to assure the bride and groom a happy life. For the small wedding in an apartment or tiny house, this menu is suggested for its economy, flavor and ease of preparation: chicken mousse with individual molds of jellied tomato aspic, hot buttered rolls, cheese and pimiento sandwiches, plain watercress sandwiches, pecan ice cream, bride's cake, coffee, salted nuts and mints.

CHICKEN MOUSSE

(10 servings)

One cup boiling water, 1 package sage pelain (aspic), ¼ cup cold water, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, 1½ cups finely chopped cooked chicken, ½ cup mayonnaise, ½ cup cream, whipped.

Dissolve salad gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water, salt and paprika. Chill until it begins to thicken. Then fold in meat in mayonnaise. Fold in chicken and whipped cream. Model and chill until firm.

TOMATO ASPIC

(10 individual molds)

One package salad gelatin (aspic), 2 cups tomato juice, ¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Heat 1 cup tomato juice to boiling point. Add salad gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add 1 cup cold tomato juice. Stir again. Add Worcestershire sauce. Pour into 10 very small individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold and arrange on lettuce leaves. Garnish with watercress as fresh and lovely as the bride herself.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas with dry cereal and cream, fish cutlets with scrambled eggs, toasted muffins, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Barnett pear fritters with whipped cream, rolls, cheese cake, tea, milk.

DINNER: Creamed oil on half shell, fried young chicken, cream sauce, French fried potatoes, spring salad bowl, strawberries and cream, lady fingers, coffee, milk.

Man Cleans Yard As Prison Awaits

CALGARY, May 4 — Gottlieb Barry spent Monday—Arbor day—clearing his yard while a police constable stood on guard, Lasteghat Barry, a convicted burglar, this morning started serving a 30-day jail sentence.

"I would like to clean my yard before I go," he told the magistrate. "If I don't I'll get a summons."

His plea was granted on the understanding a constable would accompany him to his home.

Ottawa Taking On Appearance Of Celebration

OTTAWA, May 4—Ottawa began to take on a Coronation appearance today. Public works department officials began decorating the parliament buildings, part of a general scheme on which some $60,000 will be spent by the government in decorating public buildings across Canada.

Over the main entrance of the centre block a large circular "G.R." which will be illuminated was being placed. Under it will be placed the royal coat of arms with flags and bunting.

The senate entrance and the west entrance of the building will also be draped.

Civil War Days Suggested By "Lamp-Shade" Silhouette Of Old Fashioned Silk Frock

Style creators must be constantly alert for new ideas. Everything that happens and everything that just is may be incorporated by them into motifs for madame's costumes.

The coronation influence is naturally very strong this year, and with it have come the Victorian and Edwardian themes. Various exhibits of pictures by famous artists have their influence on fashion, as do various periods in French history and numerous peasant costumes. Even books may bring out new, or revive old, styles.

HOOPSKIRT

This latter was the case in that popular seller of last summer, "Gone With the Wind," which appears the theme for this evening dress in black silk taffeta, with a deep fichu of white lace ruffles which crosses in front and is finished with a little old-fashioned posegay at the point of the V. Notice the dainty handkerchief, and the white organdie and lace petticoat flounce and cording which makes the skirt stand out like a hoopskirt.

This is the lamp shade silhouette, which is the modern version of the hoopskirt usually done in heavy taffeta, with yards and yards of swirling skirts accented with wide ruchings.

TAFFETAS

Silk taffeta ranks high for evening, especially for this romantic style of gown. In addition to the plain taffetas there are wrap-printed versions, stripe and floral printed silk taffetas. The newest looking warp prints are on white grounds, sometimes jacquarded, and with a decided pompadour choice for the domino evening wrap, as well as for the lamp shade type evening gown.

Another characteristic of the late spring and early summer evening mode is the tendency to combine different silks in the same costume. Take the redingote theme, for instance, which is popular for both daytime and evening, and you see it developed in combinations of rich silks. Silk taffeta is suggested for redingotes over satin foundations.

Gone With The Wind Is Theme Of Romantic Taffeta Evening Gown

Evening gown has a "gone with the wind" motif in black silk taffeta, with a deep fichu of white lace ruffles, and a white organdie and lace petticoat flounce and cording which make the skirt stand out like a hoopskirt

Mrs. Idesson Has Message For Hadassah

Splendid work that is being done by Jewish women all over the world was the topic of a most interesting and gripping story from the lips of Mrs. Idesson, of Palestine, who interspersed her talk with anecdotes of the people and vivid recital of conditions throughout the world, when she addressed members of the Edmonton chapter of the Hadassah at their annual meeting recently.

Meeting for luncheon in the Macdonald hotel, members were keenly interested in the experiences of their interesting speaker. Much work is being done for German refugee children among the poor of Europe, Mrs. Idesson concluded.

Re-elected by acclamation to the office she has so effectively and efficiently filled during the past year, Mrs. J. Cumelnitsky again took reins of office for the coming year. She was presented with a certificate for the Palestine Tree Fund.

Named to serve with Mrs. Cumelnitsky are Mrs. C. Ludon, first vice-president; Mrs. M. Shaw second vice-president; Mrs. H. Bloomfield, treasurer, and Mrs. E. Wershol, recording secretary.

Mrs. B. Weinberg is financial secretary and board members include: Mrs. J. Newhouse, Mrs. W. Wiseman, Mrs. A. A. Bower and Mrs. H. Holloway.

MIDNIGHT IN THE VALLEY

Charles Malem in the New York Sun.

How cool is the night, and the hills how cool
Where they rise from the far horizon's flight.
Patient and watching and old and still
In the great cool stillness of the night.

No blade may lift from the forest floor,
No leaf from the forest bough may fall.
The cool stars ride in a windless place
The cool light muffles the gray owl's call.

the social round . . . . .

KEEPING her audience constantly amused, Mrs. Kathleen Redmond Strange discussed with charming informality her experiences as the author of a first book when members of the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Authors' Association entertained in her honor at the Women's Press Club rooms in the Civic block on Monday evening. Mrs. Strange's autobiography, "Wait Till We Meet Her Eyes," won the McLeod-Dodge $1,000 award for the best non-fiction manuscript written by a Canadian in 1936, and on Monday she shared intimately with her listeners the thrills she experienced when she received the news over the long-distance telephone from Toronto, her trip to New York, interviews and receptions.

When she was autographing her book in a Winnipeg store for the first time, one sweet old lady said: "Did you write that book yourself, dearie?" Mrs. Strange answered in the affirmative and her questioner announced, "Well, I don't believe it. You're much too small to write a book!"

Mrs. Roger R. MacPherson, wife of the president of the Authors' Association, Mrs. J. H. Acheson and Mrs. C. W. R. Scouten welcomed the guests and Mrs. Joseph A. Clarke presided when tea was served later in the evening.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Nye, Mr. and Mrs. Roger R. MacPherson, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Baver, Mr. Beresford Richards, Mr. John Little, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Morrill, Miss Ena Morrill, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson B. Thacker, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Macdonald, Mr. H. R. Leaver, Mr. J. J. Duggan, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jenkin, Miss Glenna Miller, Mr. J. Easton, Mrs. T. J. Johnston, Mrs. Ethel Walton Garner, Miss Evelyn Srigley, Rev. Mr. Stone, Miss Nettie Burkholder and others.

Life Insurance Club Members Convene Here

Meeting in the friendly spirit that characterizes all their social and business relations, members of the Life Insurance Girls' Clubs of Edmonton and of Calgary, held their provincial convention on Sunday in the Corona hotel.

Dinner in the dining hall attractively decorated with streamers, and gracefully drooped flags in true Coronation spirit, was the scene of gayety as members renewed friendships and exchanged reminiscences of past connections together.

Mrs. Mamie McNabb introduced the members and Mrs. Gordon Haining, president welcomed the visitors from Calgary.

ASSISTING ARTISTS

Among those who entertained at dinner were Mrs. Stewart Roberts who sang very sweetly a number of songs, Miss Kitty Medley who danced very gracefully, Miss Agnes Calvin who played delightfully and Miss Joy Tonstad, Miss Doris Dobie, Miss Margaret Halford and Miss Jean Patno who enacted an hilariously funny comic skit. Miss Stacia Flock and Miss Connie Williams sang.

During the business meeting Miss Ruth McNabb, of Calgary, who is the provincial president, occupied the chair. Miss Margaret Blasius, provincial secretary read the minutes of the year and commented on the progress made.

Others in the program were: Miss Margaret Freeman, Calgary president who gave a brief resume of the work done by the Calgary Club; Mrs. J. Bishop, of Calgary, who presented the welfare report, Mrs. Mamie McNabb, Edmonton welfare convener who gave a complete report of the financial, social and welfare work done by the Edmonton club in the past year, and Miss Agnes Calvin, Calgary, social convener who presented the Calgary club's social activities, and also the financial report.

Miss Pearl Alton, social convener, and her committee, Miss Jean Lillian Knight, Mrs. Stewart Roberts and Miss Joy Tonstad were conveners of the affair.

DELEGATES

Delegates were: from Calgary, Miss Connie Williams, Agnes Colvin, Margaret Freeman, Ruth McNabb, Dorothy Hanson. Elsie Newcombe, Stacia Flock, Pauline Hare, Mac Harris, Ruth Cole, Kay Dallas, Jean Pascoe, Violet Armstrong and Mrs. J. Bishop.

From Edmonton: Misses Ruth Boyden, Doris Dobie, Pearl Alton, Margaret Blasius, Margaret Halford, Doris Haworrft, Blanche Hollet, Joy Irwin, Audrey Nesbitt, Jean Patno, Evelyn Wilson, Ethel Winterburn, Gwen Wood, Mae Keillor, Kitty Medley, Miriam Smith, Lillian Knight, Joy Tonstad and Mrs. H. A. McNabb, Mrs. Gordon Haining and Mrs. S. Roberts.

Flowers were presented to Mrs. Gordon Haining by Miss Pearl Alton, whose wedding was an event of interest to the clubs.

Thomas Halford, William McLean, Alexander Milligran, Jack Unwin, William Maltman, Victor Turner, Donald Cameron, Percy Howard, Clair Hicks and others.

25th Meet Of W.C.T.U. Opens Here

Marking their twenty-fifth birthday as an organization dedicated to the best interests of the many communities their influence reaches into—members of the Edmonton district of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, meeting in Wesley United church for the first day of their two-day convention on Tuesday morning and afternoon, recalled the beginnings of their organization a quarter of a century ago and were proud of the work the organization has since accomplished.

MORNING SESSION

Morning sessions were taken up mainly with committee work, and secretaries for the following committees appointed: Resolutions committee, courtesies committee, press secretary and by-laws committee. Mrs. Hyslop, president, was in the chair.

"Nationalism is the great challenge to Christianity today," said Mrs. Grace Knight, provincial president of the W. C. T. Union work in the province as she spoke most interestingly to delegates at their conference on Tuesday afternoon. "Canada's foreign policy," she continued, "is in need of reorganization—if we surreally do not want war, we in Canada must do our best to check its possibility by controlling the out-put of nickel and similar materials that are used in war.

"While it is easy to become indignant over war it is hard to see that we are willing contributors to it by our industries," she concluded.

ADDRESS OF WELCOME

Mrs. N. Hyslop, president of the district, gave her address of welcome to the delegates and presided at the various meetings. In the afternoon she spoke to the members on the progress of the work made during the year and the necessity for even greater and more zealous work.

Soloists during the afternoon were Mrs. A. E. Moore, Mrs. Pritchard and Miss Dorothy Pike, and their accompanist, Mrs. Clarence Miller.

Contestants from many parts of northern Alberta will be heard in the Diamond medal competition in elocution that will be a feature of the meeting on Tuesday evening. An inspiring and helpful little play, "Follow the Gleam" will be presented during the evening by a number of the women. Mrs. F. M. Bolten, Mrs. Elmer Roper and Mrs. Burrill.

A number of the delegates in Edmonton on Tuesday morning were Mrs. N. Hyslop of Vilking, Mrs. Hay of Riley, Mrs. Thorsley of Tofield and Mrs. MacPherson of Islay.

Minstrel shows with their spontaneity and gayety in their songs, their slapstick comedy and their dancing, hold interest for every one and at the concert held recently by a southern minstrel show by members of the Calder Community League Dramatic club, the members of the audience were none less than enthusiastic in their appreciation. Mr. W. Bridge was chairman of the evening's entertainment.

The troupe consisted of Mr. and Mrs. W. Bridge, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lasbrier, Misses Marion Gallacher and Gwyn Johnson, Messrs. Clarence Slavenchie, W. N. McClellan, C. Jessop, R. Young, S. Taylor, E. Brown, J. Briggs, B. Taylor, W. Gallacher and C. Stringer. Mrs. H. G. Alkey and Mrs. W. Bridge played.

Piccaninnies were Lois Gogulliet, Irene Emberg, Doreen and Irene Neale, Rita German and Mildred Brown. Arthur and Leslie Johnston

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal misery, don't neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, even the slightest sign of blood is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Merrick Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender parts. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

STILL SOMETHING

What To Do

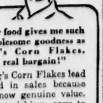

The way a dress or coat is hung on a hanger in the closet out of sight bespeaks a person's taste and orderliness just as much as—or even more than—if it were hung in plain view. For placing hangers on a rod in the closet it not only makes a nester appearance to arrange them all the same way with hooks toward the wall, but it is a safeguard as well. For, if they are all arranged one way, if occasion demands all hangers to be removed in a hurry, they can be swept from the rod very quickly and easily. If not so arranged, they lock and must be removed one by one. Recently, when a fire occurred in a house, all of the garments might have been saved had they been arranged in this orderly fashion. So, look to your hangers!

Water Is Commended As Beauty Treatment

By GLADYS GLAD

Water is one of the grandest beautifiers in the world. Any lass who wants to climb aboard the 1937 beauty band wagon, should first settle down on the water wagon!

When our cells are burdened with poisonous wastes we grow old and ugly, and water is just about the best little system cleanser there is. The drinking of a sufficient quantity of this healthful fluid flushes the entire system. It runs through the alimentary canal and cleanses it of poisons. And it is carried to every cell in the body and dissolves the wastes stagnating in the tissues.

If you've been inclined, heretofore, to pooh-pooh the beneficial effects claimed for water drinking, this is the time to prove to yourself that you've been wrong. For spring generally brings with it an epidemic of sallow complexions and sluggish systems.

That "Spring Fever" fable is really not entirely a gag, you know. And the old and reliable "water cure" will surprise you by its effectiveness in keeping your skin clear and your body pure.

Acquire the water drinking habit now, if you wish to appear at your very loveliest during the rest of the season. Drink a glass of water (preferably tepid) immediately on arising in the morning. Drink another glass after you've finished dressing. Drink at least two glasses of the fluid between breakfast and luncheon, two between luncheon and dinner, and two during the course of the evening.

Make water your favorite beverage—and you'll shortly begin to look and feel like a new girl. For, as a good many scientists explain it, one of the chief reasons why women sometimes become old, shriveled and unattractive long before their years warrant it, is because they do not drink enough water to maintain the fluid equilibrium of their bodies. Water, you see, is one of the most important of food substances, for more than half the entire body itself is composed of water!

HAS THREE FUNCTIONS

Water has three important functions in the body. In the first place, it is an excellent food solvent. Many foods are naturally soluble in water. And for their proper absorption in solution, all foods require an adequate amount of water. The drinking of plenty of water, therefore, aids materially in the digestive and absorption of foods.

In the second place, water helps to regulate body temperature. Heat is lost from the body by the evaporation of perspiration—more so during the approaching warm weather than at any other time. And so, for the maintenance of a normal body temperature, the copious consumption of water is essential.

In the third place, water is absolutely indispensable as a sewage fluid. This is, I think, one of the most important functions. Water dissolves the poisons accumulated in the tissues. It cleanses the alimentary canal of all harmful wastes. And it flushes the entire system, preventing the accumulation of any poisons in the blood stream.

Every woman, therefore, who wishes to remain youthful and lovely should pay heed to her daily water consumption, and should make sure always that it is sufficiently copious to supply the needs of her body.

DOROTHY DIX Says:

A MAN whose opinions I highly respect upon every subject except women asks me to urge girls to marry instead of going into business, and to impress upon them how much nicer it is for them to sit on a cushion and sew up a seam and feed upon strawberries, sugar and cream than it is to stand behind a counter or pound a typewriter all day.

I would be glad to comply with my friend's request except that, in the first place, it is superfluous and a waste of time to persuade girls to espouse men instead of jobs. They only too eager to do it. And, in the second place, it is an impractical suggestion because the poor working girl has no silken cushion to sit upon at home and not even bread and butter to eat, to say nothing of strawberries and cream, unless she is her own meal ticket.

Possibly there are young women who prefer offices to vine-wreathed cottages, who dream of mahogany desks and adding machines instead of blue and white kitchens and perambulators, and who would rather discuss the stock market with a man than to have him tell them how beautiful and wonderful they are and how different from all other women. But, if such there be, they are a phenomenon of nature, just as rare as hens' teeth.

The great majority of girls want to marry. They intend to marry. Most of them regard their jobs as just a bridge of sighs over which they must pass from the schoolroom to the altar, and the reason that so few of them make a success in business is that they are giving one lobe of their brains to their work and the balance of their minds to the husband chase.

The reason it is so hard for women to find husbands nowadays, say the back-to-the-home-for-woman-ers, is because they have taken men's jobs away from them and the poor dears can't afford to marry. That is a plausible alibi, but it doesn't bear checking up, since women, as a rule, fill only the lowest brackets in industry and on the pitiful wages they earn no man could afford to marry unless he felt, as did the optimistic gentleman in the old story, that he had as good a right to starve a wife as anybody else.

But why all this pother about the working woman? It seems to me it is the simplest proposition in the world and it resolves itself into the right of every human being to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, irrespective of sex. If a girl wants to work and has the ability to do so, let her. If a girl needs the money she earns, who shall say her nay? And, if she fills a good paying job that some man would like to have, why is she infringing on his right and prerequisites any more than a man rival would? Why should men be protected from competition from women and not from other men?

Much is said about the nefarious conduct of girls who go into business when they have fathers about to support them, but the number of those who do this is so small as to be negligible. Girls are not as industrious that they work for the fun of the thing. Nor have they a queer taste that make them prefer toiling in an office or store to going to parties and playing golf and otherwise leading the life of Reilly.

For many, many years I have been intimately associated with working women and I have not known a dozen who did not work because they had to support themselves. Nor have I known six who did not have family responsibilities and who were not taking care of old parents or a sick husband or helpless little children.

Those who would force women out of all the gainful occupations and make them live the only way by which they can make a living would make marriage a vocation instead of an avocation. They take from marriage everything that is sacred. For the woman who marries just for a support is no wit better than her sister who walks the streets. No girl now has to marry for a livelihood. She can make one for herself. And generally she does. And it will be an evil day for the world when a woman's economic status is taken away from her and she has to marry for gain instead of for love.

I agree with my friend that marriage is the best and the happiest career for a woman, but it is only that way when she chooses it. When it is forced on her she is very miserable and makes her husband miserable.

DOROTHY DIX

Your Children - By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Look here, Dick. See how you streaked the window of the car! You must have used a dirty cloth."

"I guess I did, Dad. But all the rags looked alike to me."

"Don't you know that when you go at a cleaning job, you use one rag for wiping another to polish the paint, and a very clean one to shine the windows?"

"I know it now. I guess but I never thought about it before," said Dick.

At this point Dick's mother calls the boy reliable aside. "What did you do to the shades, son? They are rolled nicely before, but since you hung them they are so loose they won't go up or down. There's no spring to them."

O. R. Barton

Then father comes in and explains that the newly-cleaned shades should have been rolled tightly before hanging. And adds that he is surprised about any boy not knowing the trick of window blinds.

This man has a habit of correcting his boy, or being amazed at his ignorance, and wonders why Dick hesitates to do the odd jobs assigned him. He is always doing things wrong, so says his dad.

KNOWLEDGE TAKEN FOR GRANTED

It is a habit common to all of us parents, to give a child orders without first explaining the way to do it, or better still, showing him how. We take so much for granted.

What a boy or girl discovers for himself is, of course, of great value, but when they work under orders and make mistakes through ignorance, they feel that we are too critical. The fault is largely our own.

"I want the hedge trimmed today," says Mr. Jones to his son, without a word of explanation.

Then if Mr. Jones comes home and sees the hedge cut back only six inches when he wanted at least a foot cut off, he would not fuss. His orders should have been more explicit, because a boy will not edge a hedge when told is to be done, or how he is to do it.

GIRLS ARE NO EXCEPTION

Or Mrs. Jones says to Mabel, "I won't be gone but a time but put potatoes on to boil." I wish you would scrub them and put them in the oven."

So Mabel puts them on at four o'clock with a bit of salt and by six they are as hard as bullets—almost an hour overdone.

I thought anyone could bake a potato," declares mother, a little impatiently. "They only take an hour with a slow fire."

Many little assignments that we give to our children, that seem so simple to us, need a word or two of explanation beforehand.

There is nothing like a clear direction, and a boy will not do otherwise have to guess, and then through no fault of his own be scolded for what he has not done.

There is a right way and a wrong way to do the simplest tasks. The blunderer is the wrong one, not by because he is careless or dull, but because he has never been told about the important points of procedure.

Clyde Apprentices Will Resume Work

Studies of the weather which follow the appearance of a ring around the moon show that it does not storm any more often than it does on the average of all days of the year. Neither rings around the moon nor changes of the phases of the moon appear to affect weather. The moon has been an object of superstition from early times, because it is the most conspicuous body in the night heavens. Beginning most of the popular beliefs about it are false.

First Aid TO THE Ailing House

PEELED WALL PAINT
By Roger B. Whitman

Question—My children let the bathtub run over. The water went through the floor, soaked the wall downstairs, and a good deal of the paint has come off the upper part. The paint that is left is hard, but I suppose that I should take it off before repainting it, to get an even surface. How can I do it?

Answer—That paint can stay on. Scrape off all the paint that is loose. Then wrap No. 0 sandpaper around a block of wood and rub the edge of the hard paint to take off the sharp corners. You can get a "feather edge" that will not show through new paint.

LEAKS AROUND A CHIMNEY

Question—The chimney for my living room comes up the outside of the house. In a heavy rain there is a damp spot on the plaster over the chimney in the upstairs bedroom, that I am told is because the plaster is applied directly to the brickwork. A contractor says that the only way to stop it is to take off the plaster and to replace with plaster over a lath that will make an air space. Is this reasonable?

Answer—The real fault is not with having the plaster on the brick, but through some leak that permits water to get into the brickwork. This leak may be in the joint where the chimney meets the walls of the house. That can be closed with oakum smeared with white lead, or with roofing cement. Another possibility is that the chimney-cap is cracked so that water can get in and soak down through the brickwork outside of the flue lining. The mortar joints may need repointing.

What is the condition of the flashing? They may be leaking.

PAINT FOR METAL

Question—I have a copper water tank, but cannot give the time to keep it polished. I tried wall paint on it, but it peels. What kind of paint will stay on?

Answer—Top quality aluminum paint should stay. But before putting it on, the copper must be thoroughly cleaned. Brighten it all over with coarse sandpaper, and then wipe well with turpentine. Use a kind of aluminium paint that is quick drying, and that comes in a double can—one part of the can containing the varnish, and the other the aluminium powder. Use it as soon as the can is opened, and keep the paint thoroughly mixed.

Wetaskiwin Movie Operator Found Dead At Coast

VICTORIA, May 4—Robert John Grant, 58, theatre owner and operator of Wetaskiwin, Alberta, was found drowned yesterday on the Oak Bay waterfront. He had been missing from his hotel since Saturday. Born in Scotland, Mr. Grant came to western Canada and to the coast for his health last year when he retired. He was a veteran of the South African war.

"IT SEEMS strange that tea and coffee could hurt me! I thought they were had only for children!"

"Oh, no! Many adults, too, find that the caffein in tea and coffee can upset nerves, cause indigestion or prevent sound sleep!"

If you suspect that tea and coffee disagree with you ... try Postum for 30 days. Postum contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. It's easy to make . . . and costs less than half a cent a cup. It's delicious, too . . . and may prove a real help.

Try a can of Instant Postum. If at the end of 30 days you do not feel better, return the can and we will refund the price of the Instant Postum, plus the postage. Consumer Service Dept., General Foods Ltd., Cobourg, Ont. P5-37

SPRING BARES TRAGIC END OF TRAPPERS

Three Frozen Bodies Are Found In Silent Hunting Grounds

QUEBEC, May 4.—Reports from the isolated settlement of Seven Islands on the north shore of the St. Lawrence gulf brought word today of discovery of the frozen bodies of three trappers at different spots in the interior of heavily-wooded northern Quebec. All were residents of Seven Islands.

Two of the trappers died in lonely cabins only 25 miles apart. The third died just a few feet from the shack from which he hunted, 280 miles north of his home.

An Indian guide brought news of the death of Alexandre Bellefleur. The Indian peered through a window in the small log building to see Bellefleur propped stiffly in bed. He had no idea how the man had died.

BATTERS DOOR

Battering down a barred door he discovered the body was frozen despite several blankets bundled about it. An open book, apparently slipped from numbed fingers, lay on one side of the bent knees.

Another traveller of the woods told of his discovery of the death of William Boyd.

Boyd's hunting camp, 75 miles from Seven Islands, contained his body, also stiffly frozen. Death was believed to have crept upon him while he slept.

SEPARATE TRAILS

A companion, Paul Blanchette, sobbed his story of finding Absalon Gamache, of one of Seven Island's pioneer families, when he arrived after abandoning an attempt to carry the body home.

He and Gamache had taken to the woods from home together on a winter hunting trip. About 200 miles north of Seven Islands they took different trails after agreeing to meet at a camp near Lac Gras. When Blanchette reached the cabin he found it unoccupied. A search of the lake surface nearby revealed Gamache's frozen body. Snowshoes were still tied to the feet. Believed his companion had fallen from exhaustion after a hard day's work and had been overtaken by the cold.

Jury Will Decide On Gotham Shows

NEW YORK, May 4.—Supreme Court Justice Samuel I. Rosenman said today a jury would decide next week whether license commissioner Paul Moss used proper discretion in denying license renewals to the city's 14 burlesque theatres.

Attorneys for three of the theatres appeared before Justice Rosenman today and asked for a writ of mandamous ordering Moss to immediately issue licenses for the 1937-38 season.

Hollywood Gossip

IN spite of his reputation as Hollywood's most leisurely artist, Charlie Chaplin has completed half of the script (including dialogue) for Paulette Goddard's picture, "Regency," and the film may go into production months sooner than expected. Paulette, as you may have heard, is to play an English beauty of the time of George IV.

The picture will be Chaplin's debut as a talkie director.

While making this concession to the new medium, Charlie may still laugh at his critics for, according to Variety, his silent comedy, "Modern Times," was the largest grossing picture during 1936, bringing in $4,000,000. The same source rates M.G.M.'s "San Francisco" as second.

Three young players make substantial strides ahead in "Green Light," Warner Brothers' screen version of Lloyd C. Douglas' novel, which you will be seeing shortly. Errol Flynn, out of uniform for a change, gives his soundest acting performance and loses no whit of glamor through the absence of his colorful trappings. Anita Louise grows up in this picture and Margaret Lindsay displays a warmth that she has hitherto failed to achieve. All of which, one suspects, is due to the sympathetic direction of Frank Borzage, who always may be counted on to bring out the best in an actor. "Green Light" looks like money in the pockets of Warner Brothers and of Cosmopolitan productions.

Amusement

EMPRESS

Paul Bunyon, that tough old legendary giant of the timber country, would have turned in his grave if he could have seen the recent actions of certain modern-day loggers at work deep in the woods near Longview, Wash., with paint and powder adorning their blue-jowled faces.

Not that the loggers had gone sissy. They were as hard as ever and as quick to mix in a rough-and-tumble with no favors asked or given, and sharp-calked boots as handy weapons to alter the maps of their foes.

But the lumberjacks had gone Hollywood—at least in the sense that they were working as extras in "God's Country and the Woman," the Warner Bros. Technicolor feature now at the Empress, with George Brent and Beverly Roberts starred.

It was a shock, even for a native Hollywoodite, to whom unbelievable sights are commonplace, to see burly giants with several days' growth of whiskers calmly sitting about on fallen trees while expert makeup men applied grease paint and dusted off their chops with face powder.

Special to Edmonton Bulletin

DRUMHELLER, May 4.—Mrs. Isabella Murray, one of Drumheller's first residents, who settled in the district in 1907, died Monday, aged 73. Widow of J. N. Murray, one of Drumheller's pioneer coal operators, she is survived by a large family.

Deceased was born in Grimsby, Ont., Mr. Murray being her second husband. Funeral services will be held Wednesday, with Rev. A. R. Phillips officiating.

Stettler Sees Drama Contest

STETTLER, May 4.—An enthusiastic audience witnessed the recent dramatic contest being sponsored by the Stettler Presbytery Young People's Union. The show was held in the basement of the United church and entries were from Stettler and Castor. The decision was given to the Castor cast for a farce comedy entitled 'His First Dress Suit.' A competition held in Red Willow last week Red Willow emerged victorious over entries from Botha and Donalda.

Court, Counsel, Crowd All Present; Alas! No Garbo

Star to Millions, Just Defendant to Hard Boiled Lawyer

LOS ANGELES, May 4.—For art's sake, a $10,000 recovery suit against Greta Garbo, the will-o'-the wisp Swede, was postponed and the audience grunted indignantly yesterday. Next June 21, however, the actress' counsel assured the court she will be on hand to defend herself against David Shratter's charge that he "grub-staked" her to a film career and she never repaid him.

CROWD GLUM

A large and avid courtroom audience looked downcast when Garbo did not appear and filed out disconsolately when Judge Fletcher Bowron granted the continuance.

Garbo was sitting before a motion picture camera and A. Ronald Button, her attorney, argued if she was yanked off the studio lot at this time Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios would suffer a loss of from $5,000 to $8,000 a day.

James J. McCarthy, counsel for Shratter, ex-film producer of Europe, opposed the motion, mainly on the ground that no legal reason for a postponement was evident.

"There is no assurance this woman will appear June 21," he said. "If that woman makes up her mind she won't. Louis B. Mayer (M-G-M head) and his attorney and others can not make her come."

Missing

LA GARBO

Miss Garbo, said McCarthy, was nothing very special, in his opinion.

"There is no mystery surrounding this woman," he told Judge Bowron. "I don't see why she can not come into court like any other woman. Her failure to appear makes her guilty of contempt. I subpoenaed her. Why, this woman is not even a citizen of the United States."

Miss Garbo's attorney told the court his client would submit an amended plea 10 days prior to the trial date and she would surely be in court.

Provincial News Notes

WASECA STRETCH JASPER HIGHWAY TO BE FINISHED

LLOYDMINSTER, May 3.—The board of trade has received a report that the uncompleted portion of the Jasper highway east of Waseca will be completed this year at an estimated cost of $105,000. For several years the board has been urging that this piece of road be gravelled. It is also reported that Highway No. 4 leading north of Lloydminster will be put in good condition this summer.

Members of the Edmonton Kinsmen Club visited the Lloydminster club recently for a dinner meeting.

Seeding has started in this area the soil being fairly dry at present. Work on Triangle well No. 1 south of town is progressing, and J. B. Messenger said it was possible paying gas would be struck at any time now. Town visitors are taking the opportunity of watching gas drilling operations many of them for the first time.

Miss Frances Nithcsale, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nithcsale of Lloydminster, was recently appointed an assistant chemist at the Huddersfield Imperial Chemical Industries, Huddersfield, Eng. Miss Nithcsale, who went to England last year, was a brilliant chemical student at the Lloydminster high school.

Drumheller Is Point Of Call For Tweedsmuir

DRUMHELLER, May 4.—Lord and Lady weedsmuir will spend two days in Drumheller on their western tour, according to word received by Mayor A. P. Hanley from Rideau Hall, Ottawa. Their Excellencies will arrive in Drumheller on the morning of July 12 and will leave 48 hours later. While here it is expected the governor-general will be conducted through the dinosaur fields and may possibly be invited to inspect one or more of the mines.

One of the first official duties of Lord Tweedsmuir will be the unveiling of a cenotaph in memory of the heroes of the Great War. The cenotaph is being erected by the Canadian Legion.

PIONEER EDITOR PASSES AT ALIX

ALIX, May 4.—Marking the passing of an Alberta old-timer and a well-known Alix newspaperman, funeral services for Silas C. Andrews were held Monday. The service at the family residence was conducted by Rev. Wollatt, and at the graveside by the Ionic Lodge A.F. & A.M. of Alix, with W. F. Puffer, cousin of the deceased, officiating.

Born in Clinton, Ont., 54 years ago, Mr. Andrews received his early education there and began his newspaper career with the Clinton News Record. He came to Alberta in May, 1906, to take the position of foreman with the Wetaskiwin Times. He moved to Alix 23 years ago to become editor of the Alix Free Press, remaining in that capacity until his retirement owing to ill-health one year ago.

Deceased is survived by his wife, two sons, Colin of the Royal Bank staff, Calgary, and Ernest at home, and one daughter, Lois, also at home. He also leaves two brothers and two sisters in Ontario.

DUSTY STREETS PROVE COSTLY

Special to Edmonton Bulletin

DRUMHELLER, May 4—Drumheller's board of trade is seeking oiled business streets to combat the dust nuisance but council, which pledged itself to keep taxes down, made no promises to a delegation Monday night.

Mayor A. P. Hanley stated that unless businessmen themselves will accept a levy to cover the cost no relief could be expected.

The delegation said thousands of dollars worth of merchandise is spoilt each year due to the dust. The water cart will be ordered out every dry day during sun mer months, they were told.

A second delegation asking museum facilities, heard a lecture from His Worship in which he said the council would be compelled to borrow from the banks for the first time in six years due to a decrease in tax collections.

Councillors later voted $200 toward the installation of coloured lights throughout the business section as a permanent record of the coronation.

St. Paul Girl Dies Saturday

ST. PAUL, May 4.—Helen Demers, 12, daughter of Mrs. Demers of Mallaig, died Saturday at the local hospital from complications which set in after a bad attack of measles.

Local carpenters are rather indignant over the fact that workmen from Saskatchewan have been hired to do the work they are capable of doing at the Industrial School west of town. Two houses are being built as well as repair work.

Mr. Wotherspoon of Camrose has taken over the Burns' creamery here. T. Sexton, who has been in charge here for many years, has been transferred to Edmonton.

A supercharger for light cars of the Wright type is now on the market.

LEROY J. TAYLOR

President of Libby, McNeill and Libby of Canada, Limited, Mr. Taylor arrived in the city Tuesday morning on his annual western trip. He was accompanied by E. V. Ward, of the Chicago office, and registered at the Macdonald hotel.

Mr. Taylor told The Bulletin that he finds conditions improved generally over last year. Canned food products haven't increased greatly in price despite the sharp upward trend in all other lines.

The Spanish war is affecting the price of one of Mr. Taylor's commodities. His olives come from Seville and although he has been able to meet the Canadian demand for these delicacies he has been forced to pay high prices. He says that, war or no war, Libby will continue to sell olives.

Mr. Taylor and Mr. Ward expect to leave for the west on Thursday.

ROWE SCORES PREMIER OVER VOTE PLEDGES

Failed to Implement Election Promises Federal Member Claims

Speaking over the radio Monday night, Percy J. Rowe, M.P. for Athabasca, asked the electors of Alberta why they should "give more time to a government that has failed to even try to implement the promises it gave you" He also urged the electors to compel federal Socred members to state publicly where they stand in the battle between Premier Aberhart and the insurgent provincial members.

Mr. Rowe said that he was speaking not only as "the elected representative of the federal riding of Athabaska but also as a citizen of Alberta very deeply interested in the success of the social credit movement and the greater welfare of our province." Last year he was expelled from the federal social credit caucus for criticism of Premier Aberhart.

COMPLETE CONDEMNATION

"Even loyal supporters of Premier Aberhart agree that unless the Social Credit plan is in effective operation before the end of July we might as well abandon the whole project," he said. "The failure of Premier Aberhart to take a single step to implement a Social Credit plan within the province furnishes complete condemnation of his administration."

Mr. Rowe also charged that the premier made "no real effort" to bring Major Clifford Douglas to Alberta although he had promised to do so during his election campaign.

"Remember the increased taxation that was imposed upon your shoulders," Mr. Rowe said, "was that the promise of the Social Credit party? You were promised dividends; Aberhart gave you more taxation. That is the record of your government—an endless chain of broken promises. Why should you be patient?"

Mr. Rowe challenged the premier to public debate in any part of Alberta. He sugested that Mr. Aberhart should defend his stewardship "and I will keep upon his head such complete condemnation that he will stand forever convicted in the bar of public opinion."

The federal member replied formally to Mr. Cockroft's recent statements regarding Rowe's request for a list of securities held in the provincial sinking fund.

Mr. Rowe admitted that the list had been requested but "it was not used in any way." He explained that the request was made when the provincial government was considering the construction of a coal condensation plant. Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of lands, investigated the scheme and reported favorably upon it. Mr. Cockroft made no objections when it was originally brought to the attention of the cabinet.

GARAGE BURNS; DAMAGE $3,500

A spectacular blaze, which drew the attention of hundreds of Edmontonians, completely destroyed the two-storey frame garage standing at the rear of the residence of John O'Neill, 9727 96 street, late Monday evening while Firemen battled to save what they could of valuable equipment stored inside.

Starting from an unknown cause the fire gained headway quickly and before the alarm was turned in had gained a good hold. The alarm was given by Angus Campbell, 9741 92 street.

Stored in the garage was a new 1937 sedan, a 1931 model truck, valuable excavating equipment, a lumber and oil drums, the property of J. O'Neill, Senior, who is on a business trip in eastern Canada.

The oil added to the spectacular appearance of the fire, and the explosion of the gasoline in the auto tanks blasted burning embers high into the air.

Finally, after an hour of steady battling, the fire was brought under control. Chief A. Dutton was in charge of the apparatus, equipment from Nos. 2 and 6 fire halls.

Damage was tentatively set at $3,500 Tuesday morning.

Edmonton Man Is Rotary Governor

Climaxing years of service to Rotary work, Oliver C. McIntyre, of Edmonton, was elected governor of the fourth district of Rotary International at the opening session of the association's convention in Winnipeg Monday. He succeeds Charles Sayer of Winnipeg.

Accompanying Mr. McIntyre to Winnipeg were A. W. Burrell, president head of the Edmonton Rotary club, and Chas. Kingy, president-elect for next term. The new governor is a past president of the local organization.

Hon. D. B. Mullen Takes Over Duties

Hon. D. B. Mullen, sworn in as minister of agriculture on Saturday, formally took over his departmental duties on Tuesday.

Interviewed in his office, the Minister declared that "I have been busy throughout the morning interviewing departmental heads and officials and just getting myself squared away."

There were several callers at his office during the morning.

MAYOR URGES B.C. CONTROL YUKON TRACT

Believes Placer Gold Development Would Give Work To Unemployed

Believing acquisition of the Yukon by British Columbia would result in better government for the northern gold-mining territory and the development of its rich potential resources, Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., former member of the Yukon council, issued a statement Wednesday urging that this area be placed under B.C. control. The statement has been forwarded to Premier Pattullo, of British Columbia, and other interested parties.

Interested in placer gold mining since the gold rush of '97, Mayor Clarke declares the large reserves of the precious metal are sufficient to thousands of jobless in the Yukon territory if British Columbia acquires the country. In this connection, he states he is willing to review details of his plan with Premier Pattullo.

"If you are interested in this point of view I would be only too glad to attempt to go over the details as to how it should be worked out . . . Certainly I know that B.C. will want considerable machinery and financing from the Ottawa government, and it is quite possible that the Maritimes and Quebec and Ontario will be reluctant to give as much as your province will find necessary," he writes.

Mayor Clarke further declares that Klondikers have always expressed a desire to follow B.C. laws and policy. "The Klondike placer beds, with definite gold deposits, can give B.C. her more relief men alone than all western Canada. No effort has yet been made to meet the situation," he states.

Sittings of the district court opened at the court house Tuesday morning with His Honor Judge Lucien Dubuc presiding. The morning session was occupied in setting the docket and hearing of the cases listed for hearing.

MERCURY HITS PEAK 75 ABOVE

While farmers rush to finish seeding of thousands of black acres, city residents are turning to flies nets and screens as the early May weather gives all previous midsummers a stiff battle for honors in warmth and sunshine.

With all signs pointing to continuation of the present balmy spell, the official forecast from the weather office is "fair and warm."

Temperature on Monday reached a peak of 75 in the shade and held warm through the night, the lowest reading being 54 degrees, from 5 to 6 a.m. Tuesday. At 9 a.m. it was 73.

Barometer reading was 27.78 down on Tuesday morning.

Throughout the night the north was clear, calm and warm, Fort McMurray holding the spotlight with the highest temperature, 63 above at 8 a.m.

Miniature Boat Built 133 Years Ago

Helga On Display Here

Quit chattering, madam, about the marvellous ships of today that lived to be a hundred to a day and then suddenly, with a bitter whirz and a bang, vanished into its oblivion. Here in Edmonton does not reside in the show window of the C.P.R. offices, is His Majesty's ageold ship "Helga" built in 1904 and still needing only the buoyant stimulus of the surging waves to again set the immemorial wars of Britain.

Well, as a matter of fact it is only a miniature model of that boat, but it really is 133 years old.

It belongs to Christian H. Leigh, 10552 82 avenue, and has been in the uninterrupted ownership of his family ever since it was built by his great-great-grandfather, Captain Edward Holmes Leigh, a member of the Royal Navy.

Incidentally that gallant old gent died one of the long line of sea-dogs, one of the long line of sailor men from Nosh to Nelson who roved the seas in search of adventure, commanded the original "Helga" himself. The model now on display was constructed about a year before the guns began to bark in the glorious tumult of Trafalgar.

What does a ship need to complete its glory? Why, a dash of romance, merry sailormen, and sure enough that's what it has, reclining near the model is a gold and diamond-studded medallion, done in 22 carat gold portiture of Captain Leigh.

In the back are two locks of hair, one of himself and the other of his beloved and beautiful wife. The tooth of time has cut through a weary century, but this pledge of abiding fidelity still remains, an offering to the triumph of love.

But of all the guns which originally lined the ship only six or seven now remain. The rest, Mr. Leigh explains ruefully, were taken away by himself, his father and his grandfather when they were kids and couldn't resist the temptation.

City To Be Dressed With Flags, Bunting For Coronation Day

Long hours of whole hearted endeavor in committee sessions and canvassing on the part of the Civic Coronation Committee whose members have been working tirelessly during the past few weeks, are at last beginning to bear fruit as Coronation day draws near and definite indications are that Edmonton will have a celebration well befitting the occasion.

External evidences of the spirit of rejoicing which will be reflected in the day's program will be the decorations that will transform the appearance of the main business sections of Edmonton on both the days of the public holidays.

MILES OF BUNTING

As a result of inquiries made by the committee on street decorations, headed by Lou Scott, it has been learned that banks and business places will be festooned with miles and miles of red, white and blue bunting, and it was decided by the committee that Jasper avenue from 99 street to 101 street should be appropriately decorated with bunting in a harmonious design. Similar work on the Royal George hotel and other contracts for this work have been let.

On the South Side the decorations will be confined chiefly to the area between 103 and 105 streets on Whyte avenue, while throughout the city, streets will be made gay by the efforts of private citizens. Anxious that every effort possible should be put forth by private individuals the committee on street decorations is urging citizens to unfurl all the flags that can be secured and make their home fronts gay with bunting and colored lights.

GRAND PARADE

After official acknowledgement in the form of a royal military salute at the various public buildings and solemn services in churches throughout the city in the morning, the big event of the day will commence with a grand parade at two o'clock, Geoffrey Bullock, chairman of the committee for the afternoon's program, has definitely secured the services of enough organizations to make the Coronation parade something to be long remembered by local citizens.

Among the more recent developments which the parade committee has established is the promise of a bicycle parade from the Boys' and Girls' Fair, with a special event to be staged later at the Exhibition grounds.

Of unusual interest will be the display of genuine "Chilkat" or ceremonial dress costumes of early days in northern British Columbia, that will be modelled on the Saturday army field. The display has been arranged by Major Joseph Acton, and will be accompanied by a group of costumers representing every country of the Empire in which the Army functions.

INTERESTING FLOAT

Large contributions to the parade will be made by various national organizations and patriotic societies. Among these will be the Hebrew Society that is planning an interesting float to show the development of Palestine under British mandate.

Most of the societies and organizations taking part in the parade will also contribute to the pageant program in the form of entertainment or exhibition grounds later in the afternoon. The afternoon's program will feature numerous selections by the Salvation Army, the Edmonton Schoolboys' and the Legion of Frontiersmen bands.

PATRIOTIC DRILL

A patriotic drill display will be performed by 144 cadets from the Separate Schools, under the direction of Major Bigg. Before any of the necessary funds to purchase uniforms can be raised, it is planned to stage a pageant dressed alike in blue shorts and white shirts emblazoned with the Union Jack crest.

A pretty feature of the grand pageant will be a national dance performed to Japanese music by a group of Japanese girls dressed in native costumes.

For the evening of Coronation Day many events have been arranged. Among these will be the first large public concert to be sponsored by the Schoolboys' Band in the Empire theatre.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS

Though many citizens are rallying to the occasion with donations of money and personal service the Civic committee announces that the budget is still far short of the amount originally planned to adequately celebrate the occasion and is issuing an appeal for funds to complete the program of $4000.

Conveners of various committees are as follows: W. R. McLaren, in charge of finance; chairman, Joseph Adair, chairman of the committee on ways and means; Jim McCaffery, medals committee; E. Clarke, chairman for the morning program; Geoffrey Bullock, for the afternoon program, Col. Louis Scott, street decorations; Mr. McLaren, music; Canon Pierce Goulding, fireworks services; E. Lloyd Jones, tree planting, and Robert Anderson, government representative. Hon. J. W. Hugill and Robert English are also on the central executive.

John C. Callaghan, general manager of Northern Alberta Railways, left on the N.A.R. train Monday afternoon on a tour of inspection of northern territories. He was in his private car.

MASSED FLIGHT OF PLANES FOR CORONATION DAY

All airplanes available at both the Cooking Lake and the Edmonton air bases will participate in a demonstration of massed flying during the morning and afternoon programs of Coronation Day, it was announced by the Civic committee Tuesday. The morning flight will probably take place as the royal salute is fired, and the afternoon flight will be at four o'clock.

With Capt. "Wop" May of Canadian Airways at the controls a novel stunt will be attempted when a broadcast is conducted from a plane flying above the Exhibition grounds during the afternoon program. Such a plan of broadcasting from a plane has been performed but this will be the first time known in Canada, that an attempt will be made to broadcast directly direct from the plane to the audience with merely amplification taking place on the ground.

Gleaned From Today's News

Col. H. G. Reid, of Winnipeg, general manager for Mackenzie River Transport, left for Peace River Monday afternoon on the N.A.R. train. While north he will witness the first scheduled trip on the summer schedule of the company vessel, M. S. Wynton.

KERR REPORTS SEVERAL GIFTS TO UNIVERSITY

Carnegie Corp. Donates Paintings—Faculty and Students Get Help

Several gifts and grants for University of Alberta faculty and student work were announced Tuesday by Dr. W. A. R. Kerr, president of the University.

The Carnegie Corporation of New York has presented the University with reproductions of paintings by 20 outstanding modern American painters. They include this year's catalogue of paintings by such well known artists as Thomas Donaldson, Alexander Brook, Reginald Marsh, Henry V. Poor and Morris Kantor.

ARRIVE SOON

Dr. Kerr said it was expected the paintings would arrive at the University in about a week's time and that it was likely most of them would be hung in the Arts Building.

Gift of $500 has been received from F. W. Berk Co. Ltd., manufacturing chemicals of London, to assist Prof. A. W. Henry, of the field crops division of the University, in connection with his research work on seed grain.

GOLD MEDAL

Northern Alberta branch of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists have offered a gold medal in the faculty of agriculture for the student making the highest standing in the two final years of study at the university.

Dr. Kerr also reported that John "Jake" Jamieson had been reappointed acting director of physical education for the season, 1937-38.

MAYORS COMING WEDNESDAY FOR CABINET MEET

Requesting a fairer adjustment of the direct relief burden between the federal, provincial and municipal governments and a better distribution of tax revenue by the latter governments, mayors of five Alberta cities will meet in Edmonton Wednesday and will confer with the provincial cabinet Thursday at 10 a.m.

Mayors of Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge and Drumheller will meet Mayor Joseph A. Clarke, K.C., Ald. J. W. Fry and Ald. Elisha East in the Macdonald hotel at noon. The municipal heads will then proceed to the city hall Wednesday morning to review their briefs which will be presented to the government the following day.

15 RECOMMENDED VARSITY DEGREES

Fifteen candidates in the Faculty of Agriculture will be recommended for degrees at the University for the degree of Bachelor of Science at the forthcoming convocation, it was announced Tuesday evening by A. E. Ottewell, registrar of the University of Alberta Tuesday evening.

KINSMEN HEAR F. H. BANTICK OUTLINE AIMS

National General Secretary Reports Formation of 11 New Clubs

The story of how the association of Kinsmen Clubs, famed for its social service work, has spanned the Dominion with groups devoted to communal usefulness was told to members of the local unit of F. H. "Banjy" Bantick, of Toronto, national general secretary, as he addressed its meeting Monday in the Macdonald hotel.

Now on his annual tour of inspection, Mr. Bantick expressed his deep gratification at the progress of Kinsmen work and the growth and success of the local unit. Since autumn of last year eleven new Kinsmen clubs have been formed in Canada, bringing the total clubs to 63 and the membership to 2100.

TWO NEW CLUBS

During the week-end, Mr. Bantick, accompanied by Dr. Vic Lloyd, president of the Edmonton group, and other members of the club went to Camrose and Red Deer to set up new units there.

The Camrose club, he reported, gets the credit for the formation of the Camrose club and shares credit for that of Red Deer, which worked for forming the one at Red Deer.

Past success achieved by the association is but an omen of its future growth, he said, in urging members to remain loyal to the high ideals which sustain the creed of Kinsmanship.

THREE TRANSFERS

Welcomed by the Edmonton club to their new position as members of the local group were Clyde Gilmour, transferred from the unit at Medicine Hat, Malcolm Tweddle, transferred from the Calgary Club, and Len Irvine, transferred from the Lethbridge Club of which he is the retiring president.

It was announced that two Kinsmen Club excursions to Europe over Canadian National Railways will be held this year. The first will be on June 6 and the second on July 5.

Dr. Vic Lloyd presided at Monday's meeting. Mr. Bantick left for Lloydminster Monday night.

The Inquiring Reporter

City council has tentatively approved a capital program totalling $940,000 for improvements in city-owned utilities and public works this year. It is proposed to pay for this work with funds derived from the sale of city sinking fund assets as well as provided for under the Fortin plan.

The program calls for improvements and extensions to the telephone, electric light, street railway and power plant departments, as well as public works work for the engineering department.

Replies follow:

JAMES A. ROSS, barrister: Perfectly. I think it a mistake to use sinking funds for anything other than the purpose for which they were originally made—the redemption of Edmonton's present bonded indebtedness. I am pleased to see the sinking fund is a trust fund which should be used only for the redemption of the munton bonds when they mature. While I'm not opposed to the principle of a capital program for the nature recommended, I believe aldermen are committing a breach of trust in using the trust fund, even if this action is permissible under the Fortin plan.

J. S. McCALLUM, president of the Taxpayers' Protective Association: It's quite desirable that the city employ as many of its own employees as possible on a work program instead of giving them direct relief. But it is unfair to fund further taxes on the property-holder at the present time to pay for such a program. While it is suggested that sinking fund monies be used for this purpose, it is still the taxpayers' money that is being spent. All available cash should be applied to the payment of Edmonton's existing debt, and no further capital expenditures should be made until the city readjusts its financial policy and spreads the taxes over a larger number of people.

ANDY McFARLANE, milk and cream expert Our utilities are in need of rehabilitation now, as my improvements of any size have been undertaken during the last few years. The minist kill the goose that lays the golden eggs Profits from the utilities run around a million dollars a year and unless they are maintained in proper condition by way of repairs and improvements these profits will drop. If council can do this out of revenue instead of denting the taxpayer I think it's a wise move.

JIMMIE DAVISON, shoe salesman: If Edmonton can afford this expenditure of money I think the program should be carried out. There is a definite upturn in business right now and if a good part of the million dollars to be spent is circulated among tradespeople and wage-earners in Edmonton it is a worthy project. I don't believe in plunging the taxpayers into another era of debt, but if we are going to get substantial returns on money expended I think the program should be started.

PREMIER HAS HOPE DOUGLAS WILL ASSIST

Tells Socreds Alberta Treasury Empty When He Took Office

Hope that negotiations now pending with Major Clifford H. Douglas of London to come here to act as technical adviser to establishing Social Credit, would be successful, was expressed by Premier William Aberhart, in addressing a joint meeting of the Riverdale and St. Elmo Social Credit Groups, at the Edgewood Club on Monday evening. John Crawford, president of the Riverdale Group, presided. Hon. W. A. Fallow and Hon. D. B. Mullen also spoke.

The Premier expressed his readiness to confer with Major Douglas at any time.

NO MONEY

He reviewed the financial position of the government and recalled that when they took office the treasury was not only empty but there was no money with which to pay civil servants salaries.

He outlined the various appeals to Ottawa for financial assistance, including the recent appeal which resulted in an investigation by the Bank of Canada. The appeal had been for cash and not a loan as given to Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The premier also dealt with the various technical advisers who had come to assist the government, mentioning H. Hindley Thompson, John Hargrave, E. S. Woodward, Harry H. Hallatt and Roger Smith.

INSURGENT GROUP

Dealing with the insurgent group in the Social Credit party, the premier said that they did not want to be what they wanted. The place to settle party differences is in the caucus room.

Turning his attention to the Hargrave plan, which was discussed by Major Douglas, the premier declared said that there were several of the 11 points, which could not be implemented due to being unconstitutional at all.

In this connection he mentioned the proposed acceptance of Alberta credit for goods and the compulsory marketing of goods for export.

Hon. Mr. Fallow outlined the highways facilities of the province stating that about $76,000,000 had been spent on highways construction since the province was formed.

"For another $10,000,000 the provincial highways could be hard-surfaced," he said.

FORTIN PLAN

Hon. Mr. Mullen dealt with his stand on the Fortin plan of debt settlement. He said that he had declared that he had taken a strong stand on its reference to the electors. Another reason for his introduction was a plank in the Social Credit platform and he felt that the people should get an appeal to the electors on such an important point. He despised that he had received support from other Edmonton members.

RED CHEVRONS MEET WEDNESDAY

Speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Red Chevron Club in the Macdonald hotel Wednesday night will be Major-General the Hon. W. A. Griesbach, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., M.P., K.C., honorary president of the club.

Keeping in close touch with world affairs, Gen. Griesbach is always an interesting speaker, and it is hoped a large turnout of members will be present.

Chief Petty Officer Cross, president will be in the chair, and the meeting starts at 8:15 p.m.

A stunt program directed by A. E. Bond, featured the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Monday night in the Macdonald hotel.

BULLETIN SPORTS

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

Milestone Reached

Future Brightens

You Pick' Em!

TONIGHT Edmonton fans and scores from the surrounding district will see the first western Canada championship fight to be staged under the auspices of the Western Canada Boxing Federation, the largest body of organized boxing control in Canada. There is every indication that it will be a mile post — the first in the revival of boxing in the prairie west.

When the Edmonton Boxing and Wrestling Commission, largely through the initiative of Roy Halliburton and Frank Heller, succeeded in getting the western federation formed, the future did not look any too bright. There was a tremendous amount of work to be done and the game was dormant in many parts of the west. Edmonton and Vancouver were the only really active points.

However, the picture now seems to be brightening rapidly—largely through the impetus given by the series of elimination fights leading to a middleweight championship that would be definitely recognized. Fighters now have something to work for. The man who leaves the ring tonight with the western title will be in line for some worthwhile fights in the U.S. It will give him an opening and status that he could never have gotten otherwise.

The major problem in reviving boxing has been to interest the right type of promoter. Pro fighting depends for its life on these men. Without them there are no battles, no money and no alternative but to get a job and forget fighting. Calgary has been anxious for pro fights for some time, but has lacked a promoter. This vacancy now seems to be filled. A Calgary sportsman is now in Edmonton making preparations to get fighters here for regular programs in the southern city.

A. J. McArdle, Humperville's manager, tells me that Regina is in the same position. That city has suffered from one or two undesirable promoters and the game is just starting to come back. Crop conditions at the moment are bad around the Saskatchewan capital, but if they improve it is likely that regular fight promotions will soon be underway. Saskatoon has had a considerable amount of fighting this past winter and is ripe to support really top-notch stuff.

The prospects of Calgary staging regular fight cards is a welcome one here. Edmonton's great drawback is that it costs so much to bring really good fighters here. However, with Calgary going the cost can be cut. Four or five battlers can come in by car at one time, two or three stopping off at Calgary and the balance coming on here. It will also mean that our own Alberta fighters will be able to double their earnings, fighting here one week and in Calgary the next, or with a longer layoff if they need it.

Even Money Looks About Right

DOPING the outcome of tonight's title fight is solely a matter of judging form and records. Neither McSporran nor Humperville have ever fought the same man, so there is no measuring stick.

Humperville is dangerous. He has proven that he packs a keyoe punch in both hands and that he can take plenty of punishment. Such a fighter is dangerous right to the final gong. You never know when he is going to snap over the bye-bye blow.

McSporran on the other hand is not a knockout puncher. He mixes freely enough, but he counts on piling up points to get his win. He has a neat defensive style and nobody has hurt him much yet. Humperville appears to be the heaviest hitter Eddie has yet met. Whether McSporran can stand a heavy bombing is something that won't be known until after tonight. He is as game as they make them and the fans can rely on him doing his part.

Fans will also be interested in seeing just how the calibre of boxing here in Alberta shapes up with that in Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Taken from any angle, it shapes up as a fistic card that packs plenty of interest.

Wenstob Back In Town

EDDIE WENSTOB, Bob Penman's starry light heavyweight, is back in Edmonton after a couple weeks of farm life to recover from a tonsils operation. He appears to be rapidly regaining his strength and weight again. This tonsil trouble was responsible for him cutting short his campaign around St. Paul and Minneapolis. Just now he is golfing to tune himself up. He expects to leave again for U.S. battles within a few days.

In the meantime, Jack Tebo of Fairview is still anxious to meet Wenstob. Jack Carrigan, Tebo's manager, writes me that he is prepared to fight Wenstob on a winner-take-all basis, if a high enough percentage to satisfy the Wenstob management can not be given by any Edmonton promoter. This fight remains the one that fans here want most to see.

Golf Slate Elected At Grande Prairie

GRANDE PRAIRIE, May 4—At a meeting of the board of governors of the Richmond Hill Golf and Country Club held recently the following officers were elected: President, C. C. Fleming; vice-president, Robert Kraft. Wembley; secretary-treasurer, A. E. Galway. Chairmen of standing committees were: House committee, Jas Evans; Grounds, H. D. Archibald; match and Handicap, Francis Donald; Membership, J. M. Smart. The ladies' committee will be named later. While the golf season opened officially on May 1, many members took advantage of the fine weather to try the course earlier.

Avenue And Calder Win Softball Tilts

With a last inning rally, the Avenue "A" Kees" upset the Soap bucket and eked out a 20-16 win yesterday over Westmount, but this was due to a blow-up of the entire Westmount nine. Every player on the Alberta Ave. club played considerably good ball, but the exhibition of the West End crew was very ragged, with the exception of Marion Currie's splendid showing.

The Eastwood Eagles gave a very good account of themselves although they succumbed to the undersized bats of the Calder "Cubs." A. Ryan, Mabel Geddes and Anna Thompson showed plenty of class for the losers; while Lois Stoughton, Ruth Holden and Stella Yannew looked like the proverbial million dollars for the winners.

Big Man o' War Celebrates Quiet Twentieth Birthday

His Sons and Daughters Have Won Record Sums In Purses

By BILL BRAUCHER

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 4—In a pasture farm in the rolling Blue Grass country near Lexington, Man o' War peacefully celebrated his 20th birthday on March 29.

Sam Riddle, owner of the greatest horse that ever strode out of Kentucky to conquer the turf world, planned a quiet observance of the anniversary of the big fellow's birthday. The affair was in the nature of a housewarming, too, for Man o' War now resides in a brand new home, with his noted sons, Crusader and American Flag, and other squires of thoroughbred society.

Though at 20, a horse may be said to have reached his contemplative years, Man o' War is not quite ready for carpet slippers. Early every morning, while a blue haze still hangs over the horse country, the Squire of Faraway Farm takes his calisthenics, a brisk six-mile gallop, followed by a refreshing rubdown and a hearty breakfast. Man o' War always did have a good appetite, and he still has all of his own teeth. For a horse of his age, his digestion is remarkable.

WILL LIVE YEARS?

The Squire—or Big Red, as he is called affectionately by his handlers—never has been really ill. Once as a yearling he caught a slight cold, but he threw it off in a day. Horsemen believe he can look forward to 10 more years of life, though statistics on his ancestors—many of them notorious lightstrung horses, do not offer him much hope of surviving his 25th birthday.

The aging Squire, however, is living in the present, without great looks of the future. He is hired to 25 mares each season. The fee is unannounced, and the contract is private. The old gentleman has sent 13 crops of sons and daughters to the races since his retirement to the stud, and his 266 foals have earned the amazing sum of $2,144,261. J. A. Estes, a pedigree expert of the Blood Horse, turf weekly, told me that the earnings of Man o' War's children top the sums earned by off-spring of any other living sire in North America.

Man o' War was born on August Belmont's farm on the Georgetown pike, a couple of miles from where the horse lives now. The son of Fair Play, out of Mahubah, was a rugged youngster, full of the rough-and-tumble spirit of healthy youth, according to Mrs. William Cane, who managed the Belmont farm in those days. He was a hard fellow to break. Big and strong, he fought the men who first tried to school him to the saddle. Only the greatest patience won him over—patient treatment plus his own intelligence. When he learned what it was all about, Man o' War reversed the great energies with which he had resisted, and turned all his strength and purpose to the business of winning.

In his two years on the turf, he was beaten only once, in a two-year-old race, by Upset. He went on to win 20 races. In such respect was he held by bookmakers that, once as a three-year-old, the odds against him was quoted at 1 to 100. That meant that a man betting on Man o' War had to put up $100 to win a dollar.

It is one of Sam Riddle's regrets that he did not enter the great horse—which he acquired, by the way, for $5,000 at a Saratoga sale—in the Kentucky Derby. Man o' War won the Preakness, however, and all the other great stakes in the east.

The late Clare Kummer, child of tragedy who died eight years ago from pneumonia, rode the big fellow in his major triumphs, including the Preakness of 1920 and the match race with Sir Barton at Kenilworth track, Windsor, Ont. Kummer used to say that the victory over Sir Barton, by which Man o' War won $80,000 and a $5,000 gold cup, really was an easy race. Sir Barton leaped out in the lead, but they hadn't gone 70 yards when Man o' War decided to run. Kummer gave him his head and Man o' War bounded past Commander Ross' struggling horse, never to be caught. Man o' War won that mile and a quarter in 2:00, pulled up most of the way.

ROTUND HOGAN BOUNCES BACK MINOR LEAGUE

Truest Axiom of Sport Hits Home Bitterly as Fat Man Fails

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, May 4—There's no escaping the bitterest and truest axiom of sport—"They never come back"—and the latest to learn this bitter truth is bulging Shanty Hogan.

An old star may return and skyrocket to glory but it's always just a flash. Babe Ruth, Bobby Jones, Jack Dempsey, Jim Jeffries and most of the brightest stars of yesteday have tried. They learned it couldn't be done.

SADDEST STORY

Shanty, the ponderous catcher who hit his way through fords his big 200-pounds-plus body demanded and yet he lost his greatest fight.

Nobody loves a fat man—or at least so they say, and Shanty probably doesn't love many people himself, as he heads the long trail from the majors to the minors.

LIKE THEIR BALL

The richest gold mine opened in baseball in many a year is the Jersey City club of the International League, a new farm of New York Giants. Although the Jersey City fans have been warned by Manager Travis Jackson and the experts not to expect a pennant, they are so baseball hungry they threaten to shatter all minor league attendance records.

Far ahead even of some major league clubs that have millions of dollars invested, the "Little Giants" of Jersey City so far have attracted 82,283 paid admissions in eight days at home. Twice since then they threatens to beat the minor league gate record of 345,001 set by Newark over an 84-home game schedule in 1932.

For their home opener, the "Little Giants" drew 31,234 paid spectators, or only 1,133 fans less than the big season's inaugural between two of the strongest box in major league baseball—New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

TONY AFTER MONEY

The insider Tony Canzoneri's comeback is money.

Tony's made more than $1,000,000 but his father invested most of it so tightly in real estate that Tony can't get any spending money unless he fights. Tony has a $25,000 trust fund but it won't start paying him off for several years.

As soon as Tony picks up enough dollars he'll quit the ring, champion or a beaten man. No one knows the perils of fighting beyond one's prime better than Tony, one of the smartest little fellows who ever fought for a living.

CLASSY CAMPS

Although fight trainers shouted loudly against it, both James J. Braddock and Brown Bomber Joe Louis tried to make money from with swanky training camps for their scheduled heavyweight battle in Chicago.

"If you can't figure who's going to win a big fight," advises Ray Arcel, one of the finest salaried trainers, "pick the fighter with the plainest and quietest fight camp."

Now who's going to win? Joe, Jim or maybe Billy the Max Schmeling. Der Maxie arrived from Germany Monday and said he'd start training in a few days at Speculator, N.Y.

FILIPINO WHIPS BILLY MARQUART

CHICAGO, May 4.— Varlas Milling, rugged Filipino featherweight, punched out a 10-round decision last night over Billy Marquart of Winnipeg at the Marigold Gardens to snap his Canadian youngster's Chicago victory string at 13 straight.

Milling, a veteran campaigner, was far too experienced for Marquart, who showed a courageous battle. The Filipino directed his attack on Marquart's body and managed to keep the former Canadian Olympic boxer tied up most of the way.

Milling weighed 131½ to 127½ for Marquart.

Hardisty Hoopsters Have Busy Season

HARDISTY, May 4.—Basketball teams have been busy lately and a number of successful battles staged.

On April 27 the Beehive mixed school hoop team defeated Hardisty juniors by the score of 20-17 in a close game. Red deBrido of Hardisty was outstanding and registered 11 points. Orval Hendricks referred.

On Wednesday evening the Hardisty senior team defeated the Hardisty high school by the score of 26-20. Albert Oke refereed.

On May 1 the Hardisty high school boys journeyed to Irma defeating the Irma high school 32-1. The Hardisty high school girls in turn defeated the Irma high school 21-9. Headley Abbot referred both games.

Humperville Looks Smart In Gym Drill

"Smokey" Humperville, champion of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, reigns a slight favorite in the general betting to punch his way to the western Canada middleweight championship here tonight over Eddie McSporran, the Alberta title holder.

This edge apparently came as the result of Humperville's public workout Monday afternoon in the Queen's hotel gym. It drew a capacity crowd, the majority of which seemed satisfied that Smokey carried enough guns to fight the Alberta champ on equal terms at least.

WAS IMPRESSIVE

The workout was simply for the purpose of showing Edmonton fans that Humperville had the calibre that he has been credited with. He decided against any sparring in view of the danger of an injury on the eve of the big title bout, but the drill he went through was impressive.

"All I've got to say is that McSporran had better have a good defence. If he leaves an opening, it will only take one crack from Smokey to put him away," McArdle declared.

The Alberta champion spent Monday resting with a couple of brisk walks for fresh air.

As usual, he declined to say much about tonight's fight—the most important he has yet had.

"I'm feeling fine and I naturally expect that I'll be able to climb out of the ring with the championship, but just the same I'm not underrating Humperville. His record shows that he has a lot of power, more I guess than any fighter I have met yet, but I figure I'm ready for him." Eddie observed.

The ticket sale, which opened Monday morning at Mike's newsstand, met a brisk demand during the day and there is a likelihood that the Memorial hall will be filled by the time the first prelim gets under way at 9:00 p.m.

There will be 24 rounds of box-

Beat Chicago 12-9 After Circuit Hit With Bases Filled

Detroit Strengthens Hold on American League With Victory; Giants, Dodgers Lose in National

DETROIT, May 4—A home run by Hank Greenberg with the bases full set off an attack that enabled Tigers to defeat Chicago White Sox 12-9 yesterday, strengthening their hold on first place in the American Baseball League.

The Tigers were trailing by four runs when Greenberg walloped the ball over the scoreboard in the third inning scoring White and Cochrane, who had singled, and Gehringer, who had walked. It was the second homer of the year for Hank, who was out of action nearly all of last season with a broken wrist.

After that four-run spurge in the third inning, the Tigers were never headed as they added three more in the fourth. An embryo White Sox rally was nipped in the bud in the ninth inning with only two runs scored. The only error of the game was chalked up against Chicago.

Pitching was ineffective on both sides. The Tigers got 19 hits off four Chicago hurlers, while the Sox belted McLaughlin and Hatter for 16.

Phillies Win 14-8 In Clouting Battle

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 4.—Scoring six runs in the last two innings after the Dodgers had rallied and tied the score in the sixth, the Phillies gained a 14-8 upper hand in a wild and woolly National League baseball game yesterday.

The Phils collected 21 hits off five Brooklyn pitchers, while the Dodgers made 10 from the offerings of four visiting hurlers. In the final analysis, it was decided that Orville Jorgens was the winning pitcher and Lefty Ralph Birkofer the loser.

Herschel Martin and Rookie Morris Arnovich delivered four hits apiece to lead the Philadelphia bombing squad. Martin also helped out by making three difficult running catches in centre field.

There were seven errors, four by the Dodgers.

BOSTON, May 4.—Billy Weir, Boston's sophomore southpaw, yesterday chalked up his first victory of the season with a six-hit pitching performance that topped New York Giants 3-1.

The defeat dropped the New Yorkers a game and a half behind the idle first-place Pirates.

WANDERERS vs. EDMONTON

At the Golf course pitch on Saturday the Wanderers lost to Edmonton by 30 runs in the opening game of the season played in perfect weather, scores being 141 and 111.

For Edmonton Fred Stewart, 40, and Bill Dreyer, 34, batting well, put on 66 runs for the first wicket. Weaver, Chattell, E. Diggins and Sachse also made double figures. In bowling, young Ken Collins did best, taking 5 wickets for 21.

After the tea interval the Wanderers opened with Tiplin and Martin, but the latter was soon run out due to a smart return by Sachse. Only three of their men made double figures—Field 19, Tiplin 15, and Hodgson 17. The latter made several beautiful boundaries. Eric Diggins, 2 for 2, and Jim Weaver, 3 for 29, got best bowling averages.

Umpires were Fred Mann and Ted Griffith, and scorers, Messrs. Ayling and Bellamy.

VINES BLASTS PERRY 3-0 IN FINE DISPLAY

Californian Avenges Loss At Garden—Baffles Britisher With Serves

By PAUL MICKELSON

NEW YORK, May 4—Ellsworth Vines and his blazing racquet had a full measure of revenge over Fred Perry, the dashing Briton yesterday.

Back at Madison Square Garden where Perry trimmed him three sets out of four in their pro tour debut last January before a record house of 17,630 customers, the lanky Californian played one of the most dazzling games of his career last night to trim Perry in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

WORTH SEEING

Only 6,000 spectators saw Vines triumph but they saw something worth seeing. Off to a slow start and trailing three games to nothing in the initial set, Vines found the range and all but blasted the Britisher off the court with his bullet-like serves. Before it was over Vines had scored 20 clean service aces.

The victory gave Vines a 29 to 27 edge in matches played over their tour of 40 states. The two are billed to play seven or eight more matches before embarking for England but Vines was in a good spot to go abroad ahead of the ex-British amateur champion.

Only once did Perry break Vines' serve. That was [illegible] of the initial set. Perry [illegible] came within [illegible] but Vines pulled up [illegible] the crucial game with [illegible] ive aces. In the second set, Vines scored seven aces, four of them in succession in the eighth game which also had gone to deuce.

His great display of remarkable, unreturnable serves came in the third and final set. He scored two aces on each serve and 10 in all for the set.

Taro Satoh, Japanese professional champion, disappointed in his Madison Square Garden debut, falling before the veteran George Lott in two straight sets, 6-1, 6-1.

Perry and Vines later returned to the court as doubles partners and won from George Lott and Bruce Barnes, 3-6, 6-2, 15-13.

Lloydminster Net Club Plans Season

Officers elected by the Lloydminster Tennis Club for the 1937 season are: H. P. Aston, chairman; Miss Pansy Fry, secretary; H. Fishwick, games committee; Miss Eva Hart, entertainment; E. Ellis, membership and J. McLean, treasurer. A lengthy discussion upon the installation of shale courts took place, but it was finally decided that finances would not permit such a venture at the present time. It was decided, however, to build up a reserve fund this year with the object of acquiring shale courts next year. There is the possibility of a local tennis tournament being held on May 24 at the courts in the public school grounds.

The Lloydminster girls' National softball team have re-organized for the present season and present indications are that this year's outfit coached by George McIvor will be of even stronger that last year's aggregation.

A 'Striking' Beauty

Martha O'Driscoll, moving picture starlet, hopes she doesn't fail to make a hit in the films. However, although Martha missed the ball which is settling into Jean D[illegible]'s glove here, she is quite good at softball, having starred at it in high school.

Nearly Score Enter Saturday's Renewal Kentucky's Classic

Four Eastern Hopefuls Make Their Appearance To Swell Prospective Starting Field

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—Lines for Saturday's renewal of the classic Kentucky Derby were drawn more definitely Monday when the arrival of four eastern hopefuls swelled the prospective starting field to nearly a score of the ranking three-year-olds in the United States.

Jerome H. Louchheim's Pompoon, erstwhile favorite, Marshall Field's Sir Damion, Merry Maker, owned jointly by Willie Shea and Miss E. G. (Happy) Rand, and Walter A. Carter's Clodion put in their appearance after trailing the Wheatley stable's Melodist in the Wood Memorial at Jamaica last Saturday.

MELODIST ARRIVES

Melodist, another of the stretch running derby candidates trained by "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, is due today. All are expected to answer the call to boots and saddles before some 75,000 fans Saturday.

The derby "trial" today will do much to determine the exact field. For the first time in many years, the mile test has attracted several of the leading candidates, headed by Reaping Reward and Military, stars of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way string. Military ran second to William Dupont, Jr.'s Fairy Hill in the Santa Anita derby but Reaping Reward has not started since winning the Jockey Club stakes at the Downs last year after whipping Pompoon in the New England futurity.

The "trial" also will furnish public test for No Sir, owned and trained by 23-year-old Mary Hirsh; Fairy Hill and Warren Wright's disappointing pair of Galson and Gosum. J. W. Parrish's Dellor, Mrs. W. H. Furst's Gerald and I. J. Collins' Bernard F.

HORSES MOVE UP

Earl Sande's horses have moved up several notches in the pre-race figures since Fencing, considered by the Earl as his number two candidate, beat E. R. Bradley's Billionaire and Brooklyn in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland.

Brooklyn since has been withdrawn from the derby leaving Billionaire as Bradley's lone hope for his fifth victory in the rich stake. Sceneshifter is Sande's number one threat.

Meanwhile Samuel Riddle's diminutive but fast War Admiral remained the firm choice.

MOTOR LEAGUE FINAL

The Edmonton Motors team won the Motor 10-Pin League championship last night by defeating Edmonton Auto Parts three out of four in a scheduled five-game series. Bill Gunn of Edmonton Motors had the highest single game score with 248, while his team mate, Fay Dodds, had the highest four-game total with 753. This is the last 10-pin playoff of the season.

THURSDAY NITE FINAL

Strikers took two straight from the Tommies to win the Thursday Nite Mixed League honors last night. E. Breach had high single with 261, while R. McGregor had high total with 477.

Two Westlock Nines Win by Big Score

WESTLOCK, March 4.—The fans who turned out to see the 1937 editions of the Westlock ball teams Sunday received full assurance that this year's teams had all the class of these of 1936. The girls' softball team, last year's N.A.R. champions, blasted their way to a decisive victory over Barrhead when they scored 19 runs to the visitors' 5.

The Westlock Bushers, 1936 Northern Alberta finalists, opened their season with a 10-0 shutout over Clyde, showing the same speed and spirit that made them so popular last year.

The score does not altogether indicate the play, which was very close up to the seventh inning, the score at the end of the sixth being 1-0. In the last three innings, however, the Westlock batters began to take a real interest in their work and runs soon began to pour in as three pitchers fell before them.

George Coley, Westlock outfielder, provided the greatest thrill of the game with a home run clout.

BATTERIES

Westlock: Sutherland, Taylor and Montency.

Clyde: Brandon, Brouette, Langford and Guest.

Four of Five Local Fighters Win First Tests in Tourney

Fifth Loses to Fellow Citizen; Pete Chapman Gives Fine Exhibition Beating Cummings; 23 Bouts in Eliminations

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

CALGARY, May 4.—Four out of five Edmonton boxers who competed Monday night in the preliminary rounds of the 1937 Alberta amateur boxing championship tournament here won their matches and the fifth lost out only to a fellow citizen against whom he was drawn in the 147-lb open division.

Luther Goodwin, University of Alberta, was awarded the decision over J. Janiten, Edmonton, when the other unintentionally put over a low blow that put Goodwin out of action despite his willingness to continue the fight.

FINEST DISPLAY

P. Chapman, 90-pound Edmontonian, gave one of the finest displays of the long program of 23 bouts when he won a decision over D. Cummings, Waterton Park, in a three round junior contest.

Chapman, one of the few boxers on the program who used both hands effectively, had little trouble piling up a wide margin of points over Cummings who was unable to cope with the classy style of the northerner.

McCARTHY WINS

In the same division, B. McCarthy of Edmonton took a slugging decision over Bev Kitchen of Calgary, to assure the capital city of at least one title when he goes against Chapman Tuesday night. B. Thomas, stocky Edmonton 147-pound novice, completed the northern string of triumphs with a smart decision over a taller opponent, Stan Powlak of Empress, who was lucky to stave off a knockout.

Jack Davies, Nordegg, lost a decision to Jack Anderson, Lethbridge. Four knockouts and two technical knockouts were included in the card which contained 23 bouts.

Other results included:

OPEN

160 Pound—C. Bellagente, Medicine Hat, knocked out W. A. Martin, Red Deer, in 1:53 of third round.

126 Pounds—J. Campbell, Red Deer, knocked out F. Dyball, Cochrane, in 1:50 of third round.

NOVICE

Heavyweight: L. Craig, Medicine Hat, scored technical kayo over Ken Barr, Calgary, in 2:47 of second round.

175 Pounds: R. O. Brown, Daysland, scored technical kayo over N. Lawrence, Medicine Hat, in 1:35 of first round.

147 Pounds—E. Lunce, Barons, scored technical kayo over R. Kelly, Calgary, in 1:05 of second round. B. Thomas, Edmonton won by decision from Stan Powlak, Empress.

126 Pounds—Ken Matkin, Leavitt, knocked out R. Matlock, Black Diamond, in 25 seconds of third round.

118 Pounds—W. H. Kay, Hughenden, won by decision from John Rhodes, Calgary.

Stettler Looks to Big Ball Season

STETTLER, May 4.—At a meeting held recently in the town hall, the baseball outlook for the coming season was discussed. The Stettler Elks will again sponsor the club. Mr. A. H. O'Brien will again act as president and Mr. George Graves as secretary. F. Venner, William Blaney, J. Robertson, E. Hart and W. Brebber compise an executive to handle the affairs of the club. A manager and coach will be appointed by the executive at an early date. An abundance of material is in evidence this year and prospects of a league organizing in the near future are good. Entries are expected from Mirror, Erskine, Delbourne, Botha, Castor, and Coronation. Enthusiasts are expecting a boom year.

Dean to Undergo Shoulder Operation

ST. LOUIS, May 4.—Paul Dean, ailing Cardinal pitcher, agreed Monday to undergo an operation for a shoulder injury blamed for trouble with his arm which has prevented him from attaining his former brilliant form.

An x-ray examination has showed a piece of cartilage in the underside of the arm joint has been torn loose.

PROFITABLE WORK

Fred Perry, British tennis star, will have earned between $95,000 and $105,000 by the time he completes his present series of matches in the United States.

Chas. Keene Given Return Match with Hanson Friday

Clamored for Another Bout After Being Tricked

In a wild and woolly bout last Friday, Floyd Hanson, a burly Swede, tricked Charlie Keene into defeat and in so doing angered the fans to an extent rarely seen in a local card. Now Keene, who gave Hanson without doubt one of his toughest bouts in Edmonton, seeks a return match.

Last night Promoter Mike Cutcher announced that he would grant Keene the bout and that the match would take place at the Memorial hall Friday of this week. The bout will be the headline event of the card, which will feature a semi-windup between Abdul Kahn and Oscar Mossfeldt.

The main event will undoubtedly foster loads of interest among wrestling fans. It will be remembered how Hanson untied Keene's shoelace and then, while the latter was tieing it, landed into him with feet, fists and knees flying to capture the deciding fall.

While Len Jorghenson had previously been booked to meet Mossfeldt in the semi-main, it was announced last night that he would be unable to get here, so Abdul Kahn, the terrible Turk, will take his place.

A good one fall preliminary will be lined up, with Jack Jackson a probable starter, if a suitable opponent can be found for him.

AFRAID to LOVE

By MARION WHITE

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JOAN BARRETT, heroine, secretary to John Hendry.

JOHN HENDRY, mining investment broker.

BOB ANDREWS, Hendry's junior partner and Joan's fiancé.

SYBIL HENDRY, socialite, John Hendry's niece and Joan's rival in love.

PHILIP HENDRY, Sybil's brother.

DOROTHY STARKE, Joan's girlhood friend.

CHARLES NORTON, California mining promoter.

Yesterday: Norton is apparently aware of the $40,000 cash in Hendry's house. Joan faces a new crisis in Sybil's announcement about Philip's fiance trip and the "cosh" in San Francisco.

CHAPTER XXI

AND now it was almost twelve o'clock and Dorothy and Joan were home together. Bob had departed with Mr. Norton on the eleven-ten train from Green Hills.

Only one wild, frantic thought dominated Joan. She must get away! She must put herself out of Bob's life before he found out.

Dorothy sat on the bed, watching her pack her things. She made no move to help. For half an hour she had been arguing, pleading, threatening, all in vain. Joan appeared not to hear her. She worked hysterically. Occasionally a sob would catch in her throat, and she would stop a minute to wipe away a tear.

"Joan," Dorothy begged, "if you'd only reason this out. You're not solving anything this way . . ."

"It's the only way," Joan insisted. "I can't have him know about me and marry me in pity—"

"It wouldn't be that at all," Dorothy interrupted.

In the long run, he'd hate me, I know it. It's something I can't escape."

"But why should he hate you? I can't understand why you keep insisting on that."

"I don't hate you, Joan," Dorothy said earnestly. "I love you. I'm happy living with you. I don't care what people say because I know in you Don't you think Bob feels the same?"

"It would be different—"

"Why?"

"Because we'd be married. He'd be tied to me forever."

Dorothy sighed. "That's what he wants. He loves you, Joan. Can't you realize that? What does the past matter to him?"

"It does keep them in the past. You see that. Ten years ago it happened, but tonight I must face it again. It's always been like that, Dorothy. Ten years ago in California. Seven years ago in Seattle. In Detroit. In Chicago. Now it's in New York. Wherever I go it will follow me. And whoever goes with me will be caught in it. My children will have to face it. Bob's children, if I married him. He'd never know a moment's peace."

"You think he'll find cause for divorce?"

Joan nodded. After a while, she said:

"With Sybil Hendry?" Dorothy questioned hesitantly.

Joan flushed. Presently, in a strained quest—

Dorothy jumped down from the bed and there was fire in her eyes. "I think she said fiercely, "you're being a fool. The only way Sybil Hendry could ever marry him would be if he were free. And he'd never get a divorce providing just the opportunity. Do you think he'd do anything with her?"

Joan shrugged in her tracks.

"Do you?" Dorothy persisted.

"Sybil could do it, but for him—" Joan's voice was flat. "Fiddlesticks! She'd make him do anything she and you know it!"

"Sybil has been good to me." He told me so. She's helped me—more than once."

"You're saying that only to persuade yourself that you're taking the right steps. You won't let yourself see the other side of it. Would you like to live with Sybil Hendry?"

Of course not. And neither would Bob. He's not her type. If he married her, he'd regret it every day of his life. Believe me, he'd be much happier living with Joan than with you.

For a moment, Dorothy almost forgot that she was a confirmed bachelor and considered it thoughtfully. Eventually, however, she shook her head.

"I can't let him do it," she said dully.

She resumed her packing.

Dorothy paced up and down the room restlessly. There were no other arguments that she could put up. Yet she was determined not to let Joan throw this last chance of happiness away. Not if she had to lock her in a closet until Bob should return and leave a choice to please her own sense.

Suddenly, Dorothy got a new thought in her mind. There was Tony Gerard. Alone and together glum and she walked back and sat down on the bed emphatically.

"Joan," she said severely, "I didn't want to say this to you, but I'm going to—"

"What, Dorothy?"

"You're a coward!"

Joan gasped. "Coward!" she echoed.

"Yes. You're running away because you're afraid to stay here and face Bob. You're afraid of Sybil Hendry!"

Joan's mouth trembled. "Please don't say that, Dorothy. Why should I be afraid of her, knowing that Bob is on my side? It's because of him that I'm running away. Don't you see? I can't drag him into it with me. . . ."

Dorothy's eyes snapped. "Forget Bob for the moment. Think of your father. Are you ashamed of him?"

"Dorothy!"

"You are. You must be. If anything like that happened to my father, I'd stay and fight it out with anybody who dared to doubt me. That is, if I believed in him."

Joan dropped to a chair, stunned for the moment.

"If I believed in him?" she repeated vaguely. "If I believed in him . . ."

All of a sudden, she jumped to her feet, and her eyes flashed with a fire outbalancing Dorothy's.

"I never doubted my father for an instant!" She cried. "Don't you dare suggest it now. He was as innocent of the crime he died for as—as you are. And I'm not afraid to tell anybody that!"

Inwardly, Dorothy cheered. "Why don't you tell Sybil Hendry, then?" she asked coolly.

Joan's mouth hardened. "I will!" she said.

"All right. . . . Stop crying. . . . Now you've proved you're not afraid, you've got a chance to tell her."

Joan paled. "Tell her—"

"No. Not Bob. Sybil's going to want some sort of proof from San Francisco before she suggests anything to him."

Joan's eyes widened with understanding. That was why Sybil had said nothing in front of Bob. Instead, Sybil knew that it would terribly he would have to repeat that story if she presented it as idle gossip. In the few moments she had talked with Philip over the telephone, he could only have given her the barest details. She would want to know everything before she made any accusations. Joan knew that. Sybil knew Bob.

"Of course!" Joan murmured. "That's why she didn't tell him. And I never guessed it!" She frowned. Dorothy watched her curiously. Presently, Joan looked up, mystified look in her eyes. "I think I should tell Sybil everything," she demanded. "Is that right?"

Dorothy nodded.

"When should I tell them?"

"When do you suppose Sybil will carry the tale to Bob?"

Joan caught her breath. "Mr. Hendry!" she exclaimed, after a moment. "She couldn't!"

Dorothy nodded sagely. "Except that he'll listen to her, whether he believes her or not. And it's no replacement convenience that she has this Jeremiah Jordan—like a friend of the family."

"Yes, that's the trouble." Joan admitted more quietly. "He won't believe me, because the man was his friend.

"You don't know whether he will or not," Dorothy pointed out.

Joan looked down at her hands. Presently, she seemed to see a break.

"I suppose you're right," she murmured, almost to herself. "I believed you, Dorothy. And I suppose I owe Bob the same confidence. I'll tell him."

Dorothy sighed contentedly. "I knew you'd see it sooner or later," she said. "There's never been a doubt in my mind. Mr. Hendry would have believed him, too, if he had known him. I'm positive of that."

"Then he will believe you," Joan," Dorothy assured. "If you tell the truth, he'll believe you. Why, even when you're afraid of Sybil Hendry, there's something in your face that shows it. I can see it right now."

"Oh, Dorothy!" Joan's eyes filled with a glad, new hope. "Forgive me for not understanding you a moment ago! You make me see a light, in spite of myself. If Mr. Hendry believed me, then Bob might, too . . ."

"Of course. And if Bob believed your father was innocent, as you believe, and as I believe, then what does it matter what the world believes?"

"Not a bit, Dorothy. Nothing would matter. Not if Bob could believe me . . . What time is it, Dorothy? I think I'll go over to see Mr. Hendry now—this very minute!"

Curious World —By William Ferguson

Few persons ever have the privilege of seeing the giant nightjar, so perfect is its protective coloration. Blending exactly with the tree on which it rests, the bird flattens its tail against the trunk, sits erect, and closes its eyes, thereby eliminating all resemblance to a living object.

Markets Today's

At Toronto

TORONTO, May 4.—Toronto stock exchange listings registered a moderate gain today on the smallest turnover since last year in a full session.

Walkers common added 2½ and Distillers-Seagrams gained a point.

Brazilian added more than a point and Consumers Gas, Shawinigan and United Fuel Pfd. closed higher. Implements were irregularly higher.

Canadian Car and Foundry stocks, United Steel, Dominion Coal pfd., Dominion Steel and the bridge issues gained ¼ to a point.

Smelters added more than two points, Nickel 1¼ and Hudson Bay ⅝.

At Montreal

MONTREAL, May 4.—Most issues posted gains on Montreal Stock Exchange today although buying was light.

Gain of 2⅜ turned up for Smelters at 82½. Noranda and Hollinger remained about even.

Canadian Car at 16¾ and the preferred at 25½, boarded gains of a point each with National Steel Car down that much at 44. C.P.R. firmed the minimum fraction.

Advances of ½ each showed for General Steel Wares at 15, Steel of Canada at 80½ and Dominion Steel and Coal at 20.

At New York

NEW YORK, May 4.—Buoyed by the continued flow of cheerful earnings and favorable dividends, stocks stepped off further recovery paces in today's market.

Stocks conspicuous in the front ranks were U.S. Steel, ethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Standard Oil of N.J., Texas Corp., Anaconda, Kennecott, American Smelting, International Nickel, U.S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Marshall Field, Caterpillar Tractor, N.Y. LATE WEAKNESS CHECKS WHEAT

WINNIPEG, May 4.—Late weakness at Chicago partially erased early wheat price gains on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, after an advance had been stimulated by renewed export demand in which 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat were sold. In dull trading prices closed ⅛-⅛ cent higher, May at $1.31, July $1.28⅞-29 and October $1.18.

MONARCH HITS CARDIUM SAND AT 4,070 FEET

Production Is Expected At Shallower Depth Than Foundation Well

CALGARY, May 4.—Encountering the cardium sands last week at 4,070 feet, at a depth which is apparently 170 feet higher than the same sand was encountered at the Foundation Pete well, ⅝ of a mile south-east, drills of Monarch Royalties well struck an important marker which would indicate that Monarch Royalties can be expected to come into production at a shallower depth than Foundation, which is producing at 6,470 feet. Monarch Royalties is now down to 4,430 feet.

STEADY DEVELOPMENT

Anglo-Canadian activities in the field are continuing steadily. Of the Anglo-Canadian group new drilling in addition to Monarch, and Foundation, which is finished and producing, Prairie Royalties is down to 2,400 feet and Firestone to 927 feet.

Westflank No. 1 and No. 2 wells should spud in this week. Balance of new rotary equipment for these wells arrived over the week-end and is expected to be in place by Wednesday when work will immediately start.

Spy Hill Royalties is awaiting equipment. All these properties are on the proven West flank area in picked locations.

FLOW OF GAS

The triangle oil and gas well at Lloydminster encountered a flow of gas estimated at 10,000,000 feet daily with 345 pounds pressure Monday.

Alberta oil production for the month of March was 161,832 barrels, more than 21,000 barrels over the February figure. Of this Turner Valley contributed 159,216 barrels. Production of the big crude producers on the west side is as follows:

B. & B. Royalties 22,283 barrels; Turner Valley Royalties, 18,724 barrels; Sterling Pacific No. 4, 12,135; Sterling Pacific 3, did 2,918 barrels; Foundation did 6,937 barrels; Model No. 1, in the extreme north end of the valley, which has been producing crude for six years, had 6,937 barrels.

The report from the Royalite office shows Sterling Pacific No. 5 drilling at 3,441 feet. No. 6 is still digging cellar.

Davies Petroleum No. 2 was drilling at 2,152 feet.

Davies Petroleums No. 1 was preparing to run 16-inch casing to 1,500 feet Monday.

Union Drilling and Development Co., Ltd., reports Globe Royalties drilling at 835 feet, this morning. Royal Canadian is completing its derrick and expects to spud in by May 15th.

With most up-to-date rotary equipment, Model-Spooner, which was spudded in Thursday, was at 300 feet Monday morning.

Commoil, drilling on a lease secured from Commonwealth Petroleums, was drilling at 2,200 feet Monday.

Granville was drilling below 2,600 feet.

The depth of Brown Corporation No. 1 Monday was 2,050 feet. Brown No. 2 is at 2,290 feet. Royal Crest is at 1,504 feet. Three Point is at 1,105 feet and Four Star is at 295 feet.

Hunter Valley was drilling at 7,417 feet in very limey formation which is believed to be immediately above the lime.

The well at Command Oils, which will be the eighth well in Sec. 29, is digging cellar.

London Traffic Disrupted

Fear that London's transportation system will be disrupted during the coronation season, when the Empire capital will find its customary transport problem tripled by influx of world visitors, developed when more than 25,000 bus drivers and conductors went on strike to enforce demands for a cut in their eight-hour day and a slowing up of bus schedules. Attempts to mediate the dispute or to secure a postponement failed when Ernest Bevin (inset), head of the Transport Workers' Union, rejected the labor ministry's appeal for a truce. About 5,000,000 Londoners will be affected, with subways and tram lines forced to carry the brunt of added traffic. A solution to the tie-up is hoped for before May 12. A view of Regent St., London, showing a typical line-up of London 'bus and motor traffic is pictured, with top right a close-up view of one of the city's two-deck six-wheel 'buses now standing idle. The Independent Labor party, headed by James Maxton, is backing the strikers and a sympathy strike of 'busmen throughout southern England may ensue.

EDEN CHEERED OVER DEFI TO REBEL GENERAL

England Will Evacuate Civilians, and Also Support Them

LONDON, May 4—The British government is determined to proceed with naval evacuation of civilians besieged in Bilbao despite the opposition of Insurgent Commander-in-Chief Francisco Franco, Foreign Secretary Eden told the house of commons last night.

Meanwhile, the captain of the British freighter Knutsley informed the admiralty that a floating mine, not Spanish government bombing planes, sent the insurgent battleship Espana to the bottom of the Bay of Biscay last Friday.

NEUTRAL ZONE

Basques had claimed that airplanes sank the insurgent vessel as they went to the aid of the Knutsley, threatened by the Espana. The admiralty will continue its investigation.

In his note opposing the evacuation plan, General Franco urged the civilians be protected in a neutral zone between Bilbao and Santander. He charged plans for evacuation by sea were the result of a "Russian plot" to permit destruction of property in the Bilbao zone.

HOUSE PLAUDS

The house applauded when Eden, after outlining the insurgent counter-proposal, said the government nevertheless intended to provide protection for the women, children and old people of Bilbao as arranged in the evacuation plan.

The national joint committee for Spanish relief announced preparations are being made to shelter in England 4,000 children from Bilbao and the adults accompanying them. Many will be sent to vacation camps. A large number of offers of hospitality for the Spanish refugees in British homes has been received by the committee.

ENGLAND'S DUTY

"We feel that England should do what she can to assist the refugees," a member of the committee said, "because France and other countries already have done a great deal. There must be many thousands of Spanish refugees on French soil."

In his note rejecting the evacuation plan, General Franco said the safety of ships carrying it out could not be guaranteed due to the necessity for insurgent aircraft to attack strategic port buildings and other points considered of a military nature.

RASKOB, DUPONT MUST EXPLAIN STOCK DEALS

NEW YORK, May 4—Pierre S. Dupont and John J. Raskob, two of the United States leading industrialists, defended themselves today against government charges that they established losses for income tax purposes through fictitious stock sales. They asserted through counsel and transactions were "legitimate and honorable."

Their lawyers said the trading, accomplished in the hectic days of 1929, was done to keep from forcing the market down. Dupont and Raskob appeared before the United States board of tax appeals to fight a contention Dupont owes $617,316 and Raskob $1,026,340 on their 1929 tax.

Curtis Dall Suing 'Time' For $250,000

NEW YORK, May 4.—Curtis B. Dall, former son-in-law of President Roosevelt, testified in supreme court today in his $250,000 libel suit against "Time" magazine, that he was still upset because of publication of a story that he was supposed to have committed suicide.

Man Tramps 40 Miles To Call Medical Aid

MONTREAL, May 4.—Flown 120 miles to Montreal for an emergency operation, Armand Tremblay, 40-year-old guide and woodsman, was given a good chance for recovery today.

He owed his life to Charles Emile Prefontaine, his Montreal employer who tramped 40 miles from an isolated camp at Lac Laferme, where the guide became ill Saturday, to the nearest telephone to summon help.

Tremblay arrived here by plane early Monday morning and was rushed to hospital. Doctors were ready for their patient. A short time after emergency operations for peritonitis and ruptured stomach had been performed, they pronounced the guide "practically out of danger."

Little to Defend Golf Championship

TORONTO, May 4.—Hefty Lawson Little of California, holder of the Canadian open golf title won here last year, will be back to defend his championship at the national tournament here September 9-11. Little's entry was among the first received, Royal Canadian Golf Association officials announced last night.

MGR. DI MARIA, FORMER PAPAL ENVOY, IS DEAD

POTENZA, Italy, May 4.—Archbishop Pietro Di Maria, 70, once apostolic delegate to Canada and later papal nuncio at Berne, Switzerland, died yesterday.

OTTAWA, May 4. — Archbishop Pietro Di Maria was apostolic delegate to Canada and Newfoundland for eight years, from 1918 until 1926, when he was appointed apostolic nuncio to Switzerland.

During his years in Ottawa, he attended many functions and was beloved by catholics of the city. He also travelled extensively in Canada and Newfoundland.

Felons' Music Hid Successful Escape

HAMPTON, N.B., May 4.—Sounds of a mouth organ, accompanied by song, were heard from a jail cell occupied by the Wright brothers, Cecil, Jonas and Robert, here Monday. The music stopped. Then officers found the three had escaped —through a hole chopped in the wall.

Flags Ornery At Coronation Dress Rehearsal

LONDON, May 4—Two flags to be flown over Westminster Abbey on Coronation day refused to rehearse today and a large crowd watched with amusement workmen trying to break out the Royal Standards.

Three times they tried the blue and white flag and each time it refused to break perfectly. Then the red, white and blue horizontally striped flag was sent up the crown-topped mast in the temporary annex, but it also refused to unfurl. After being twice hauled down and refixed, it jammed halfway up the pole.

U.S. Davis Cuppers To Start Practices

NEW YORK, May 4 — United States Davis cup team players will gather here within a week for intensive practice for the North American zone finals with Australia's netmen at Forest Hills May 29-30-31.

Joining Don Budge, Gene Mako and Frankie Parker, who carried the United States to a surprising 3-2 sweep over the Japanese at San Francisco, will be Bryan M. Grant, tiny Atlanta, Ga., star. Joseph R. Hunt of Los Angeles and possibly one or two others.

Should the United States reverse last year's result and eliminate the Australians, the team will sail from New York Saturday, June 5, for the interzone finals and, possibly, the Davis cup challenge round at Wimbledon.

Jack Crawford, Adrian Quist, Vivian McGrath and Jack Bromwich, making up the Australian team which defeated Mexico, 5-0, will arrive here Sunday for practice.

Strike Chief's Arrest Move Is Suspended

QUEBEC, May 4—Issuance of warrants for arrest of Raoul Trepanier and Bernard Shane, leaders in Montreal's dress trade strike, has been ordered suspended, Premier Maurice Duplessis declared in the Quebec legislature today.

Shane is organizer of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union and Trepanier chairman of the strike committee. The premier as attorney-general announced Friday warrants for their arrest had been ordered on charges of conspiracy against public order.

Alberta Farmers' Wreck Deaths Probed

PAYNTON, Sask., May 4.—Coroner's inquiry into the fatal railway wreck near Paynton on April 17 when one transient were killed, elicited evidence the train, a C.N.R. freight, was moving 20 to 25 miles per hour when 13 freight cars left the track and that the track was in good order. Konstantly Bonsay, Wagrette, Alta., farmer and Mike Ewa Ec, Banfurley, Alta., were killed. Four other transients, clinging about the wrecked cars, suffered severe injuries. The inquest is proceeding.

Astronomical announcements state that the solar system is moving southward in the direction of the Great Magellanic Cloud of stars at the velocity of 450,000 miles an hour.

THE Royal Road TO THE CORONATION

"Lilybet"—at a Party (left) and viewing the model Village of Bekonscot in Buckinghamshire.

THERE is little than can be written about Her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary, heir presumptive to the British throne, that has not been said and repeated many times. The cynosure of the empire's eyes since her birth in April, 1926, this charming little daughter of King George and Queen Elizabeth has been fated to grow up her every move noted and her every gesture commented upon.

Yet in gazing along the road which has led her father and mother to the throne, the fluffy-haired darling of millions cannot be ignored. She has meant too much to them, to their country and empire and to their place in England's heart. Almost for the first time since she was born, the spotlight of publicity has turned for a time more fiercely upon her parents than upon the princess, yet the coronation over and England looking ahead once more with the hope that a lengthy and happy reign lies before the King and Queen, Her Royal Highness cannot but move back into the forefront of the empire's thoughts.

For, unless unforeseen fate makes monarchy once more its plaything, this gay and fascinating stripling will some day hence take up the crown that her namesake wore so well in past centuries and give Britain a Queen again as her sovereign.
